Dental Society Tells Why...No Medicaid Patients

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

"We would rather not accept Medicaid patients than give them anything that is impractical under the new July 1 state-mandated fee schedule," say members of the seven-county dental society group in the Ulster County area.

The decision to prefer to turn away Medicaid dental patients was made by the 300 members of the Third District Dental Group through their representatives, that includes dentists of the Ulster-Greene area.

When contacted by The Freeman earlier this week, Dr. Henry J. Kwasnowski, president of the Ulster-Greene Group, said that several members would attend the Third District meeting where the decision was made and pending the outcome of that session, the local dentists would make their own determination.

More than 100 dentists who attended the special district meeting were virtually unanimous in a show of hands by those who "regretfully would find themselves unable to continue to treat patients under the new Medicaid restrictions."

Local doctors and pharmacists also took a position on Medicaid this week as reported in Friday's Freeman. The doctors state they "feel justified in refusing to provide 'elective' and non-essential services."

The pharmacists took an even stronger stand saying that they will act as individuals but, the majority will not serve Medicaid customers on other than a cash basis.

The Third District Dental Society, which is comprised of seven Eastern New York counties, and of which the Ulster-Greene Dental Study Group is a part, made its feelings known in a press release in which it states it is officially on record as opposing the cutback legislation and arbitrary action of the state budget director under the Medicaid program.

Special

"Faced with rising costs of materials, laboratory charges, equipment and office help, dentists affiliated with the Third District would rather not accept Medicaid patients than give them anything less than high quality dentistry . . . ," it said.

The society however, has voted to leave Medicaid patient decisions to the conscience of the individual practitioners.

Reductions for dental care after July 1 will amount to 36 per cent, according to a society spokesman, and could be met by most doctors only with a lowering of quality. This the dental group refuses to do.

Dr. J. Bruce VanGaasbeek of Albany, president of the Third District said that each dentist must decide for himself what policy he will adopt. Some county groups in the district have adopted a policy of flat rejection where other facilities are available, the doctor added.

He also indicated that district members feel that there has been public misinterpretation of dental fees under Medicaid. "It has been generally overlooked that these were grosses and usually billed under one man's name regardless of how many associates he had, how many personnel were employed in his office, what percentage went to manufacturing laboratories and all the rising costs confronting him."

Dr. Naham C. Cons, also of Albany reportedly has explained that most Medicaid-eligible patients formerly had had only emergency dental care but that when public aid became available they took the opportunity to have the long postponed work done.

"This long-range neglect, especially in adults, resulted in an upsurge of demand for dental attention. Often overlooked by the public was the fact that all costly care required prior approval by the local dental director." He also said that publication of these facts when Medicaid payments to dentists are announced, would provide a truer picture of the situation.

The Third District is now taking steps to urge early action by the board of governors of the State Dental Society in establishing more clearly defined Medicaid policy as a statewide guideline.

Drop 1.8 Million Pounds on Reds

B52s Fly to Rescue of Trapped Berets

SAIGON (UPI)—Ten waves of B52 bombers, in one of their heaviest strikes of the year, dropped 1.8 million pounds of bombs today on North Vietnamese soldiers surrounding the U.S. Special Forces camp at Ben Het.

Still the shelling of the outpost continued as the Communists pushed their siege of the camp into its 54th day. U.S. headquarters said 236 rounds slammed into the outpost Friday, with more reported this morning.

About 1,200 South Vietnamese troops simultaneously launched two spearheads in support of the camp, 600 of them trying to reopen the main land supply line, Highway 512 from Dak To, eight miles away.

The other 600, two battalions of South Vietnamese commandos flown into Ben Het Friday, began combat sweeps west of the camp, trying to lure the Communists into the open for dive bombers and helicopter gunships.

Scattered ground fighting was reported around the camp Friday between Allied patrols and dug-in North Vietnamese.

In one, two American and two Australian advisers to a South Vietnamese commando unit were killed and four commandos were wounded in a clash one mile northwest of Ben Het. No Communist losses were reported.

In the second, a security platoon sweeping around "Knob Hill," one of Ben Het's outposts, discovered North Vietnamese bunkers in the hill's slopes and destroyed them following a clash that killed two Communists and wounded five Allied soldiers.

The barrage of 236 rockets, mortars and artillery rounds that slammed into Ben Het Friday was one of the heaviest since the siege began. U.S. headquarters said no one was killed among the camp's 12 Green Berets, 180 American artillerymen and 450 South Vietnamese defenders.

Commanders at the scene said the camp was in no danger of being overrun but the Viet Cong's Liberation Radio said today "Our encirclement has been tightened around this cmp." It said more than 1,600 Allied troops had been killed at Ben Het.

"This victory inflicts a hard blow on the U.S. scheme of Vietnamizing the war and shows the failure of their experiments in order to realize this scheme in the western highlands," the Viet Cong broadcast said.

The broadcast claimed 740 Allied troops had been killed in ambushes along the road to Ben Het.

The U.S. Command simultaneously reported sharp clashes on Saigon's outer defense ring which cost 117 Communist soldiers slain against eight American troops killed and 18 wounded. Heaviest of the battling killed 69 guerrillas 55 miles northwest of the capital.

SEAWAY DEDICATION—Canadian Prime Minister Pierre E. Trudeau, left, heads toward the speakers stand at the Dwight D. Eisenhower Lock in Upstate Massena with U.S. President Richard M. Nixon and his wife Pat. The President re-dedicated the St. Lawrence Seaway and the Eisenhower Lock Friday, the tenth year since the waterway was opened. Hands Across the Border At Seaway Rededication

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — President Nixon called the St. Lawrence Seaway at its reddication Friday a "frontier of friendship" between the United States and Canada.

Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau said the seaway is a "ditch" that makes good neighbors.

The chiefs of state agreed that the ceremony for the 10-year-old waterway and its auxiliary power generating stations was symbolic of U.S.-Canadian friendship. The seaway and powerdam were jointly built and are operated by the two countries.

In a brief speech at the Eisenhower lock on the American portion of the Seaway, Nixon asserted "Our ways are the ways of peace and our works are the works of progress and of freedom."

"When I walked in here today, I was proud to be an American citizen, I was proud of the relationship of our two countries. We look forward to that continuing friendship which has produced so much in the way of peace and freedom for the American continent," the President said.

Trudeau drew a parallel between the seaway and Robert Frost's poem "Mending Walls," which suggests that rood walls make good neighbors.

"Perhaps it's also true, Mr. President," Trudeau said, "that good ditches make good neighbors."

Nixon, as Vice President and Queen Elizabeth II of England helped dedicate the seaway ten years ago.

The seaway made it possible for deep draft ships to travel up the St. Lawrence River into the Great Lakes. The Moses-Saunders powerdam on the U.S.-Canadian border, was built at the same time as the seaway and supplies electric power to both countries.

Nixon and Trudeau met at the International boundary marker in the center of the dam Friday for a symbolic handshake.

Then they flew five miles by helicopter to the Eisenhower lock.

Thousands waving tiny American and Canadian flags met them with cheers. The president and prime minister walked along a red carpet between rows of boy scouts holding full-sized flags of both nations.

With Nixon for the ceremony were Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe. Also present were Governors Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania and James Rhodes of Ohio. Also there was Premier John S. Robarts of Ontario.

Rogers, who observed his 33rd wedding anniversary on Friday, was given a painting by the people of his native Norfolk, only nine miles from here.

The painting, by Robert Polumb, an art teacher at Norfolk, depicts a maple sugar house.

Name USC Dean To Health Post

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Nixon announced today the appointment of Dr. Roger Egeberg, dean of the University of Southern California School of Medicine, as assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

The announcement was made by Nixon's Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler at a news conference less than 24 hours after HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch withdrew the name of his first choice for the post, Dr. John H. Knowles.

The appointment of Egeberg, 65, is subject to Senate confirmation.

The travelling White House announced that Finch will hold a news conference today in Washington and Egeberg will be present.

Ziegler made a special note the eminent medical educator was a Democrat.

He said Finch had talked to Nixon Friday night by telephone to discuss the formal recommendation.

Egeberg was graduated from Cornell University in 1925 and received his MD degree from Northwestern University in 1929. During World War II, from 1944 to 1945, he served as personal physician and aide-de-camp to Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Egeberg was in the Medical Corps at the time and was discharged as a colonel.

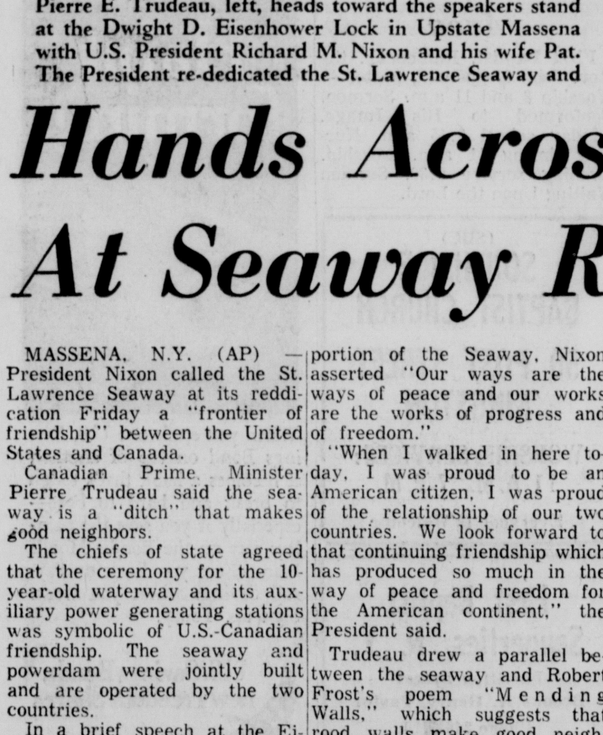

The White House also made public some of his past writings and books in the medical field. He served his internship at Wesley Hospital in Chicago and his residency at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Ziegler declined to comment on Egeberg's philosophy of federal health funding such as Medicare. He said such questions should be addressed to Finch.

Nixon did not appear at the press briefing.

President Plans Visit To Romania

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon announced today he is going to be the first U.S. chief executive to visit a Communist country — Romania.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Romania invited the chief executive to come, and he will do so early in August, following a circuit of five Southeast Asian capitals.

2 Sisters Care for 7 Rabbits

A Dutchess County Adoption Story

RED HOOK

Nine year old Lisa Young saw a picture in the Freeman early this week of a "Little Orphan Groundhog".

The groundhog, named Marvin Mammal, was a guest resident of the Dr. Alfred Zamm family in Kingston, and got its nourishment from a bottle filled with a soybean concoction. The wheels in a nine year old mind started turning.

Lisa decided that her story really topped that page one photo, so she got on the telephone Thursday and called the Freeman office in Rhinebeck.

"We have seven baby wild rabbits that we are raising at our house," she said. Immediately discerning a hot scoop, the intrepid young reporter asked for her mother, Mrs. Henry W. Young, who gave the particulars.

True to the legend of Peter Rabbit living in a cabbage patch, a small nest full of baby rabbits was found in the Young's vegetable garden among the heads of lettuce.

The mother rabbit was not anywhere around and the children, including Lisa and 11 year old sister Maureen, decided that the proper thing to do would be to take over the maternal role.

This tale began Sunday, and the babies "have actually grown and seem to be thriving," says Mrs. Young. "We have been feeding thm with an eye dropper of milk, and lately they have shown some definite interest in clover."

A neighbor informed them that the mother rabbit would pay no attention to the young rabbits if they were replaced because of the lingering human odor, so an unbreakable liaison has developed.

The Youngs live at 1 Kent Road, Red Hook Estates. Young works for IBM in Kingston and we used to live in Kingston, so the Freeman is a tradition," says Mrs. Young.

Now, can anyone top seven wild rabbits?

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

July 31 marks the 100th anniversary of the founding of the world-famous Christian seaside resort and camp meeting ground at Ocean Grove, N.J. The first religious service was held at Ocean Grove in the tent of Mrs. Joseph H. Thornley, July 31, 1869.

The 19 devout Methodist ministers and laymen who participated decided it was the place for summer spiritual, cultural and recreational activities. In December that year the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association was organized and the Rev. Ellwood Haines Stokes was elected president. He held the post and gave Ocean Grove much of its vitality until his death in 1897.

Through the years Ocean Grove has been an important part of the religious, cultural and political life of our country. Many of the great preachers and evangelists such as "Billy" Sunday and Billy Graham have preached there, and great names from the Opera and musical world have performed there. It was a favorite spot of Mme. Schumann-Heink. Six Presidents visited—Grant, Garfield, McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson.

This centennial season Ocean Grove retains the same dynamic spirit it has had for 100 years. The great auditorium with its seating capacity of 8,000 still resounds with fine music and the messages of noted ministers. Also one can enjoy Bible study, literature, pageants and sports. And above all, Ocean Grove is preserving much of the tradition and spiritual heritage that has made our country great.

HAPPY 50th — Former President Harry S. Truman and Mrs. Truman celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Friday. It was a quiet day since Truman, at 85, is not strong enough for the excitement that goes with crowds. School District Set For Budget Adoption

KINGSTON

Adoption of the $13.7 million 1969-70 budget for Kingston Consolidated Schools is expected at the Monday meeting of the Board of Education to be held at 8:30 p.m. in the board office, 67 Wall Street. It will be followed by an annual meeting and preceded by an executive session from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Other business before the board includes resolutions on mileage allowance and a change order for the Finn School. Also, resignations, terminations, appointments, status and salary changes for both professional and civil service employes.

A report of awarding of bids on paint, paper and chalk-board supplies will be given and reports will be heard from the building committee, public relations and transportation committees.

Superintendent W. Wendall Hoover will make a report at the year-end meeting.

Citizens Concerned Over School Impasse

RHINEBECK

Citizens in the Rhinebeck School District are concerned about the impasse between the Board of Education and the Rhinebeck Teachers' Association.

This concern was voiced at the Board's special meeting this week by Richard Crowley, representative of the Rhinebeck Citizens' Organization.

In a message delivered to the Board, the organization stressed the need for greater unanimity of purpose, and urged the two factions to make every effort to some conciliation. The organization was originally formed two years ago when the school district went on an austerity budget that lasted into the winter months.

The citizens also asked that a new budget be submitted to the taxpayers by Aug. 15. A reorganizational meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, at which time both issues will be discussed by the board. The original budget of $1.7 million was narrowly defeated at the polls June 11.

A Public Employment Relations Board fact finder's report is in the works and both factions hope it will be in evidence by Tuesday.

"We have not done very much work on revamping the budget as of yet," said District Principal Ralph Steeves today, "but it will be the main item on the agenda Tuesday, besides election of new officers and hopefully a fact finder's report to review."

Steeves also noted that he felt the original budget was quite sufficient and it would be difficult to pin down where any cuts for the voters could be made.

Two elementary teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Shaw, submitted their resignations this week, and the board hired Richard Clare to teach grade 5.

Perrine's Bridge Dedication Set Sunday at 3 P.M.

RIFTON

Formal decication ceremonies for Perrine's Bridge will take place Sunday 3 p. m. in colorful ceremonies at the historic covered span in Rifton.

In conjunction with the event which marks years of preservation efforts, Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature, has proclaimed Perrine's Bridge Day in the county.

Recongnizing the historical importance of the restored covered bridge, Savago called on all area residents to participate in the observance.

Instrumental in the gigantic project over the past few years has been the Perrine's Bridge Committee headed by John Grady of Rifton, chairman and Elmer Carney of Kingston, vice chairman. Savago has been among the many political figures who have aided in efforts to save and restore the bridge.

Many local dignitaries are expected to be on hand for Sunday's ceremonies.

Saugerties Budget Vote Wednesday

SAUGERTIES

Voters of the Saugerties Central School District will vote on a revised 1969-70 school budget Wednesday between noon and 9 p.m. in the Main Street School gymnasium.

The budget total has been cut by $71,104. and will result in a tax rate, estimated on the best figures available, of $115.92 an increase of $2.60 over last year's $113.23. The revised budget totals $4,460,269.50. The portion to be raised by local teaxpayers amounts to $1,322,-531.86.

Although the original budget was defeated by only 27 votes June 10 and a number of voters have expressed the thought they would have voted had they thought the budget might be defeated, the Board of Education accepted the mandate of the voters and made the $71,104 cut. The items cut reflect important aspects and safeguards of school operation and the Board of Education eliminated them with reluctance.

If this revised budget is defeated July 2, the Board of Education may consider adoption of a contingency budget which does not require approval of taxpayers.

Items which must be eliminated in a contingency budget are:

Use of school buildings and grounds by outside organizations except where there is no identifiable extra cost to the district or such cost is fully paid by a donation before the activity occurs.

Capital expenditures, except in an emergency. This includes all new equipment and replacement of equipment.

Transportation and maintenance of interscholastic athletic teams.

Pupil uniforms whether for athletic activities or otherwise.

Cafeteria and school lunch operation, whether or not it is considered self-supporting. This means termination of the milk program and of the contract with the Education Department in connection with surplus foods.

New library books.

All personnel not considered essential.

Texbooks for grades K through 6.

Under Transportation — Parochial school children need be transported only to the nearest available parochial school.

Field trips eliminated.

Elementary pupils who live less than two miles and secondary pupils who live less than three miles from the nearest bus route or from the school to which they have been assigned cannot be transported.

Only supplies for sale, rental, or loan may be provided to pupils unless uniformity is essential.

In addition the above items which must be cut from a contingency budget, the Board of Education must decide whether certain other items are an "ordinary contingent expense." In general these expenditures must be "deemed to be absolutely necessary to operate and maintain schools." Emphasis should be on "those expenditures essential to maintain an educational program, preserve property, and assure the health and safety of students and staff."

Reports from other districts indicate that stringent cutbacks of program and instructional staff have been or are being made. Teacher negotiations have not been completed in Saugerties nor in many other communities. The New York State Teachers Association "NYSTA News Trends" for June states, "With some 250 local associations representing 65,000 teachers at impasse across the state, officers and negotiators from many of those associations converged on Albany June 7 for an emergency meeting called by NYSTA."

"NYSTA officials pledged 'total support' to local associations who continue to follow NYSTA guidelines in resisting inadequate raises, cutbacks in programs and staff, and the educational short-changing of students."

Zoning, Planning On Rosendale Agenda

ROSENDALE

Zoning and planning will be the topics at a public hearing in the firehouse here Monday as the village considers adoption of either a local law or ordinance on zoning.

Michael Antonelli, chairman of the village's zoning Commission, said an hour of the meeting—scheduled to start at 7:30 p. m.—will be devoted to thee Planning Board who drew up the proposed zoning law, and an hour will be devoted to the Zoning Commission and its presenting the plan before consideration by the village trustees at a later date.

Antonelli said the village's plan is somewhat smaller than the Town of Rosendale's, due to the size of the incorporated village. He said problems in sub-divisions that have been dealt with by the larger municipalities are smaller in the village, since there is only one or two areas suitable for subdivision.

Miss Linda A. Foster, daughter of Mrs. Frances Foster, 120 Fair Street Kingston, and the late H. C. Foster, became the bride of Rex Edward Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland H. Myers, 382 Broadway, Port Ewen, on Saturday, June 14, at Fair Street Reformed Church.

The Rev. Edwin Coon officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. William E. Rylance, organist, accompanied Miss Debora Pratt, who sang traditional wedding selections. Gold vases on the altar were filled with white gladioli and white shasta pompons. Palms adorned the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her half-brother, Leon Randall, the bride wore an A-line gown of white dacron crepe, featuring a stand-up collar and short sleeves with appliques of white re-embroidered French alencon lace and seed pearls. The detachable chapel length train was trimmed with lace and pearls and was secured by satin ribbon. Her silk illusion fingertip veil was shirred to a stylized headpiece of Alencon lace and seed pearls. The bride's gown was handmade by Mrs. Sylvia Randall.

Mrs. Lester Markle Jr., 25 Lafayette Avenue, Kingston, was matron of honor. She wore a petal pink concerto gown fashioned with a jewel neckline, bishop sleeves, and a soft skirt with a bow and streamers in the back. She wore a matching headpiece of small petals attached to a bouffant veil and she carried a fireside basket filled with white and pink shasta daisies, pompons, sweetheart pink roses, and baby's breath with pink streamers.

For Lovelier Locks

Every woman needs two kinds of social security: the financial kind and the personal kind. Personal "social security" is the assurance of good grooming to meet all social situations. And faithful "deposits," in terms of daily baths and beauty treatments, will pay off in "benefits" of lovelier looks.

Jarvis Gallery Augments Its Exhibit

DEN MOTHER by Virginia C. Stemples has been added to the current exhibit at Jarvis Gallery in Woodstock. The artist has at least 20 pieces in the collection. Her sculpture in wood, stone and welded metal has a rhythmic quality that involves the viewer. Stemples has been accepted in numerous juried shows and won several awards. Her work is in collections from Canada to Peru and across the United States. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Several important works have been added to the current exhibit at Jarvis Gallery in Woodstock. Barbara Phillips is showing her exquisite sculptures, Virginia C. Stemples is back with her sculptures in wood, stone and metals, and the expressive, fresh paintings of Tei Matsushita have been included.

The well known Miss Phillips, who resides in Woodstock and New York, is represented in more than 70 collections throughout the United States and United Kingdom. She is listed in Who's Who of American Woman, Who's Who in the East, 12th edition, and Dictionary of International Biography.

Her one man shows have been seen in London, Philadelphia, Los Ageles, and New York. A mahogany carving "Eden," was purchased from the talented sculptoress by the Ithaca College in 1968 and she has copped at least seven outstanding annual prizes both here and across the seas.

Miss Phillips studied at the Slade School of Art, University of London, and privately with the world famous Henry Moore.

Virginia C. Stemples has worked and exhibited in the Miami area for the past 10 years after moving there from Chicago in 1958. At least 20 of her pieces of sculpture are now at Jarvis Gallery.

Miss Stemples has a unique way with sculpture in wood and stone. They all have a certain rhythmic quality that impels the viewer around the piece—to follow the action.

More recent welded metal works depict the human form with whimsey, mysticism or subtle nuances which invite the observer to relate. Her aim is simplicity and she says much with a subtle gesture or tilt of the head.

Miss Stemples has been accepted in numerous juried shows and won several awards. Her work is in collections from Canada to Peru and across the United States. Of her own work she says, "I have finally come to peace with myself. I do what I believe in—always striving for simplicity and the essence. I like to think that my belief in God, the family as a unit and my love of children somehow is reflected in my work."

Also of interest to gallery-goers will be the beautiful works of Japanese painter Tei Matsushita of Arlington, Va. The expressive, fresh paintings by Matsushita include "Spring Festival" and "Old Fort." The artist considers her works to be a departure from her usual style. She will be the subject of a one-man show at Jarvis Gallery in the near future.

Jarvis Gallery is open weekends from 1-6 p. m. Admission is free. The Gallery is located at 90 Broadview Road in Woodstock.

Maverick Concerts Opening

Maverick Concerts will open another season of delightful chamber music programs Sunday, June 29 at 3 p.m. in the well known Maverick Theatre in Woodstock.

For its opening concert of the 1969 summer season, Maverick is presenting the well known and talented Musical Arts Trio featuring John Wummer, David Sackson and Joseph Wolman.

In addition to selections by Mozart, Carl Maria von Weber, Bach, Heitor Villa-Lobos, the trio will play a contemporary piece, "Concert Piece (1963)" by Otar Gordely. It was composed by a young graduate of the Moscow Conservatory who, today, is heralded as one of the most outstanding of the younger Soviet composers. When John Wummer was in the Soviet Union recently with the New York Philharmonic, he met Gordely and accepted a copy of the concert piece.

The Musical Arts Trio has gained an enviable reputation. Each member brings to the group a vast background of experience.

For the past 23 years, Wummer has been first flutists for the New York Philharmonic and has taken part in orchestra tours to Europe and Russia. He has been assisting artist with the Busch, Pagagini and Budapest Quartets. He is an annual participant in the Casals Festivals in Puerto Rico where the Mozart D. Major Concerto was played and received "wide acclaim."

There is scarcely any aspect of playing which has escaped David Sackson. He is a solo violinist and violist. His background in chamber music includes membership in the Gordon Quartet, Kroll Sextet and the formation of the Phoenix Quartet.

David Sacson is a violinist who uses a Stradivarius made by the master in 1728, and a viola by Gaspar da Salo dating from the 16th Century.

Wolman has been a Maverick favorite for a long time. A former Woodstock resident, Wolman is musical director of the Chamber Music Associates and is on the faculty of the music department at Brooklyn College. He has been appearing with such artists as William Krool, Lionel Tertis, Toscha Seidel.

The Washington Post said of the Musical Arts Trio, "... when three established artists such as Wummer, Sackson and Wolman appear at a concert, you can expect a performance of unqualified excellence."

Public is invited.

Ball of String

Fasten an ordinary tin funnel to the side of the kitchen cabinet. Place a ball of string in top and draw the string through the small end of the funnel. This eliminates hunting for string.

New Fabric

Innova is a new kind of two-sided doubleknit fabric, combining the hand of wool with the wash-and-wear quality of polyester. The polyester is skinside for softness and the acrylic wool-like hand on the outside. Its's being used in women's dresses and sportswear, men's slacks and sport jackets and children's wear.

MUSICAL ARTS TRIO — Joseph Wolman, John Wummer and David Sackson who will open the 1969 summer season for Maverick Concerts on Sunday, June 29 at 3 p.m. in Woodstock. Members of the Musical Arts Trio, the musicians have excellent reputations in the musical world. A new work by a young Soviet composer will be introduced during the concert.

Rural Repopulation

An estimated 100 million population rise in the next 30 years has made rural repopulation suddenly popular. The underlying principle is to make rural living so attractive, the increased population will not crush the big cities but will flow to the country and create new cities or enhance small cities and towns.

Daniel P. Moynihan, the White House adviser on urban affairs, has high on his agenda a national urban policy which would spread the population rise and make for a rural-urban balance.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew heads a "new towns" cabinet level committee which has been holding meetings regularly especially on the problem of creating new towns that could abolish the population explosion.

A study of "The New City" will soon be released under the sponsorship of Urban America, the National League of Cities, and the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

Former Agricultural Secretary Orville L. Freeman has written President Nixon a letter stating that the nation can't deal with the problems of cities unless it gets down to the fundamental issue of the people-space balance.

"Nearly all the problems of today's urban crisis—poverty, racism, crime, housing, health—can be linked to past migration from the countryside that has piled too many people on too little space," Freeman wrote in an article in the Minnesota Law Review.

He calls for the establishment of a "town and country development bank for rural America" with Federal seed money and then a subscription of private funds. He calls for the use of the leverage of the Government's buying power, its widespread installations and its job-training and aid to education programs to provide attractive options for living and working outside the big cities.

Freeman is on the right track, as are Agnew and Moynihan and the others in the Administration who are concerned about a more balanced distribution of population. Town to city migration must be reversed to stop the growth of slums, ghettoes and all the unhealthy symbols of extreme density.

Anti-Violence Protest

Disillusion with the purveyors of protest on the campus and in American life is spreading. Even the convention of Students for a Democratic Society in the Coliseum in Chicago had two challenges, one personal, the other group.

The personal challenge was made by Kenneth Love of Chicago. He burned his own membership card in SDS on the sidewalk outside the Coliseum as delegates streamed into the hall, as a symbolic act against the violence of the SDS and the "paranoia that is going on inside the hall." Delegates were admonished not to watch the burning.

The group protest was made by Ed Butler, spokesman for the Information Council of the Americas. He and his band of followers passed out free copies of "Aware", their newspaper for "squares." And they challenged SDS leaders to an open debate on student revolution, but got no takers.

We told in this space the other day about the couple who testified before a Senate investigation committee to the barbarities practiced by the Black Panther Party. They drew the expected response from the Panthers—that they lied and "will be dealt with."

It has been evident all along that student rioters and demonstrators were a small minority of student bodies across the country. That the protestors are now in turn being protested is a good sign. It may well mean that substantial numbers of students have been sickened by the excesses that have deprived them of the calm and quiet they need for study, normal campus life; and they are taking things in their own hands.

Cure for Urban Ills

The mayors of America's cities should not have been surprised by Vice President Agnew's call for greater state involvement in federal funding programs in solving the ills of the cities. Even though Agnew's statement contrasted with what the municipal leaders themselves had been calling for at the U.S. conference of Mayors, Agnew told them the Nixon administration is dedicated to solving urban problems and, at the same time, to get states involved more in their solution.

Agnew revealed that he is writing to the Governors of each state requesting that they convene a series of meetings with the mayors, county executives and legislative leaders of their states for the purpose of improving the rapport and understanding of one another's problems and needs. This is a small beginning in decentralizing government, putting the states in the middle, so that they will help find a cure for the worsening problem of the inner city. It is a proper step, because the states are closer to the cities and can move more quickly to help in time of need.

The Driver's Seat

David Lawrence Says

Need New Amendment To Guarantee Free Press

WASHINGTON — Americans are dismayed at the suppression of newspapers by the South Vietnamese Government, which considered the publications hostile. But here in the United States today cases are pending in the courts which could lead to complete government control not only of radio and television but also of all printed publications.

Because there are often legal technicalities involved, the general public doesn't always feel right away the impact of developments. Even usually well-informed "Liberals" and "Conservatives" sometimes overlook the possible effect of the government's intrusion in the field of communications.

There was, for instance, a case decided in a U.S. circuit court of appeals this very week which ordered the Federal Communications Commission to hold a new hearing on the licensing of a television station in Mississippi, whose present operators have been accused of unfairness in connection with the presentation of racial questions. If a radio or TV station can be commanded to present in its programs opinions which the government may order it to include, the same thing can be made to apply some day to the printed publications in America, too. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes once said in a dissenting opinion of the Supreme Court:

"If there is any principle of the constitution that more imperatively calls for attachment than any other, it is the principle of free thought — not free thought for those who agree with us, but freedom for the thought we hate."

The issue involved in the Mississippi case, which started in 1962, is still unresolved. The television station has had its license withdrawn by this week's decision but is given the right to apply for a new license. The Federal Communications Commission has been ordered to hold hearings so that all sides may be presented and other applicants be given consideration.

Licenses are issued to radio or television stations by the Federal Communications Commission under a law which says they shall be granted in accordance with "public interest, convienience and necessity." This phrase was intended originally to enable the FCC to decide as between applicants solely on the basis of their capability to build an effective broadcasting system and serve a community over a wave length allocated to the station. Nowhere did Congress say that the FCC has the right to tell a station what to broadcast or what to omit.

In recent years Congress has enacted legislation ordering that "equal time" must be given on radio and television to all candidates for a political office, and the Supreme Court on June 9 ruled that an opportunity must be provided also to answer personal attacks.

But if a government agency like the FCC now can tell a radio or television station what it shall broadcast, the Post Office Department can deny the use of second-class mails to any publication which does not print what the Federal Government thinks it should.

There is as yet no law requiring newspapers to give "equal space" to contending candidates, and one reason is that the court decisions of the past have denied authority of this kind to the government.

But, it will be asked, what is the remedy for a situation in which there is obvious unfairness? The people can decline to patronize any medium or communication. Radio and television stations may come to the point where they will, on their own initiative, always present the other side of controversial questions, just as newspapers do when they publish "letters to the editor."

If the Supreme Court, however, insists that the government must regulate the methods of presenting news, either over radio of television or by printed word, the first amendment to the Constitution — which says Congress shall make no law abridging the freedom of the press — will have fallen by the wayside.

A government-controlled press and radio is not desired by the American people. But to assure themselves against such a fascist or Communist tendency, a new amendment to the Constitution will have to be adopted restricting the right of the federal agencies to interfere with the presentation of news on controversial questions.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Any family without skeletons in its closet is either lying or un-American. Why do you think that our women, shopping for a new house or a new apartment insist on big deep closets. Not for their skimpy wardrobes, to be sure. It is for the pupose of hanging skeletons which can sway without rattling their bones against the walls.

We had lovely skeletons on all four sides of our little group. No one ever mentioned old Uncle Charlie, a man of wrinkled brow and dubious intellect, whose post was in front of a funeral home where he was a numbers runner. It wouldn't have been so bad, except that he was not a member of the mob, which threatened to put him inside the funeral home if he didn't stop.

The mayor, who had a piece of the action, sent word to Uncle Charlie that the cops would collar him unless he ceased and desisted at once. Charlie responded that he only took numbers from hard-luck people on their way inside to bid farewell to a stiff. He figured that they were entitled to a change in luck.

Charlie's changed. It became hard. The cops bagged him and he went off to the canary cage where, ironically, he flourished taking numbers from underprivileged prisoners. The women of our family whispered about Uncle Charlie fifteen years before he went feet first inside the funeral home.

We had an Aunt Maude—forgive the alteration of names—who was a closet drinker. She was the only member of our sanctified group who could answer a front door bell and fall head first on the porch. At, I might add, 10 a.m. She was on a combination of gin and sleeping pills. For her, the harshness of life was reduced to a fuzzy soft focus.

She didn't drink herself to death, exactly. She merely accelerated the process from low gear to high. I kept the empties to make a glass headstone, but the saints in the family voted it down. They referred to Aunt Maude as a poor suffering soul. I have seen her completely bagged, and I say she suffered less than those who prayed for her.

Then there was Cousin Johann, who had a headbolt which lacked a washer. It kept loosening and we had to get a brain mechanic to tighten it one quarter of a turn every now and then or he would go stomping down the middle of the street leading an imaginary parade.

I liked him to the end of his days. He was the only truly intelligent one we had. Johann could communicate better than RCA when he was in the mood. "This," he would intone in the manner of a papal bull, "is a lousy, cruel, selfish world. You may have my share of it. My only pleasure is to go berserk now and then, throwing cups and saucers against the wall and waiting for the guys with the crab nets to come.

"The rest of it, take my word for it, is dull. It comes alive when all your relatives are scared to death and you are the center of attention. It's worth a short vacation in the Happy College." If Johann made heaven, I can tell you that Those People Up There are in a jam.

The other family skeletons didn't even want him in their closet. We had an old man relative—probably the nicest of the tribe—who used to get drunk on his day off and come home in an open funeral barouche with a quart of ice cream in his hand. When his wife hollered, he held out the ice cream and reminded her that it was melting. "I'll take care of you later," she shouted, and ran off to the kitchen to devour the vanilla.

By the time she was finished, he was sound asleep fully dressed. He wore the eatific smile of a happy infant. We also had a few who could be referred to as simple, but they were not true skeletons. They spent their time peering from behind lace curtains and hiding in bathrooms when the doorbell or the phone rang.

I too was a skeleton between the ages of 18 and 21 because I had an unhappy affinity for being fired from jobs every three weeks. Once, when I was a milkman, I found that the horse knew more about the stops than I, so I gave him a rather smart kick in the pants and quit. That dairy company has never been quite the same. Neither has that nag.

My skeleton was duly dried and hung in family closets all over New York and New Jersey. My father was a bit more firm: "You," he said, pointing a finger so that my brother John would not get a complex, "are a bum." Years later, he became my fan and my skeleton was ordered off coat hangers everywhere.

I miss those skeletons. The new generation are all conformists. Now and then, when I see them, smartly dressed and sipping a single martini, I feel like muttering: "You and your damned education!"

Military Spending Attacked; Rivers Blocks Criticism

WASHINGTON — It takes place behind closed doors where the public can't watch it, but Congressmen who have been ladling out the military boodle without challenge are suddenly encountering criticism from the most unexpected sources.

For example, a Wall Street banker who had served as an Assistant Secretary of the Navy under the late President Eisenhower startled the House Military Appropriations Subcommittee the other day with his frank remarks.

Distingushed looking J. Sinclair Armstrong declared behind closed doors: "The national economy is endangered by the excessive defense and space spending. Such a large proportion of our economic effort — 10 per cent of the gross national product — is going into non-productive activity. The effect of this is destabilizing to a free economy."

Chairman George Mahon acted as though a burr had been placed under him. The lanky Texan, stirring angrily in his chair, accused Armstrong of "undermining" the Paris peace talks. He wouldn't let him finish his prepared statement.

Armstrong, the executive vice-president of the United States Trust Company, had been prepared to offer chapter and verse on the damaging effect of high military spending on inflation, wage rates, housing, taxes, exports and interest rates.

His undelivered statement would have warned the military spenders: "There is beginning to be felt a considerable body of responsible business opinion that, unless the Vietnam war is promptly ended and unnecessary defense spending curtailed, wages and prices will have to be frozen and vital materials allocated."

But Armstrong never got the words out. Chairman Mahon wouldn't let him talk.

War vs. Cities

It was also behind closed doors that a small group of Pentagon apologists, led by Rep. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., recently blocked approval of a resolution criticizing the "military-industrial complex."

The resolution, offered by Rep. Don Fraser, D-Minn., at a caucus of House Democrats, deplored military "waste" and extravagance and urged a revision of federal priorities in order to provide more money for urban problems. Whereupon a Rivers ally, Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., promptly offered a retaliatory measure condemning "domestic waste."

Action on both was deferred after a long argument, during which Fraser told his fellow Democrats that they should put their house in order for the 1970 elections by taking a "unified position against unreasonable expenditures by the military."

Rivers hotly disagreed. He contended that the percentage of defense spending in the federal budget was "not great," and was "vital" to national security. Congress, he maintained, should cut down on domestic public works projects which, he said, had greatly "escalated" in cost.

"That's the gentleman's opinion," declared Fraser. "He's not interested in solving the problems of our major cities, which are escalating all the time. We don't need the ABM and some of this advanced aircraft now involved in scandalous cost overruns. We do need money for our cities."

"I wouldn't advise anyone to expect that the federal government will divert massive sums to the cities following the war in Vietnam," argued Rivers. "There will be strong public demands for tax reduction after we get out of Vietnam."

Rivers received potent support for postponement of action on the Fraser resolution from Rep. George Mahon, Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, who said that the net effect of the resolution, if adopted, would be the "admission of errors by the past administration."

"We should be trying to improve the stature of the Democratic party for the next election," declared Mahon. "If we adopt this resolution we will not be putting our best foot forward."

Maverick Republican

The Nixon administration is determined to revamp the Federal Communications Commission and weed out all members who challenge the Establishment. To this end it has quietly kicked upstairs Commissioner Jerry Wadsworth, son of one of the great Republican Senators of the last generation, Jim Wadsworth of New York.

Reason for Wadsworth's exit is that he voted to remove the Channel 5 license from the chief Republican paper of New England, the Boston Herald Traveler.

This station was embroiled in a lobbying scandal in the days of Sherman Adams, when he and Sinclair Weeks, former Secretary of Commerce, had pulled wires to award this TV channel to the Republican newspaper rather than independent interests in Boston.

Commissioner Wadsworth lined up with liberal Democrats to vote against the entrenched GOP interests in Boston. So he has been persuaded to take a job as assistant to ex-Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, now head of the International Conference of Communications Satellites.

Henry J. Taylor Says

U.S. Must Control Economy

FRANKFURT — West Germany's most consequential banker, who prefers to remain unnamed, privately reveals a conviction that revaluing the Deutsche mark now hinges more on internal political power plays than on our dollar, the British pound or the French franc. Moreover, he reveals much that is still untold about the top thinking (and infighting) when Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger shocked world finance by refusing to revalue this country's currency.

Foreign Minister Willy Brandt, running for re-election this September and seeking to embarrass the Kiesinger coalition government and eagerly carving up Kiesinger from the inside, unwisely pushed for revaluation. Then, responding to his own voice, he overstated certainly that it would come. The figure he forecast for the mark's revaluation upward was 6.25 per cent. Brandt went a long way out on a thin plank over a deep sea.

This drumbeat was music to the ears of hard-pressed Washington, London and Paris treasury chiefs. Economics Minister Karl Schiller, Brandt's political teammate, joined Brandt in the pronouncement that told the world's central bankers what they wanted to hear and, incidentally, cost international money speculators their shirts.

Arrayed — and still arrayed — against Brandt and Schiller were Kiesinger and powerful Finance Minister Franz-Joseph Strauss. And the four appear to have turned the mark into a veritable Nibelungenlied shrouded in the covering mist of conspiracy.

"Behind the scenes," observed my knowing friend," all government central bankers know an obvious fact: It is not the mark that is undervalued; the dollar, pound and franc are overvalued. They know that the world money crisis is not brought on by Germany, but by the financial irresponsibility of others, particularly the Wilson government in England."

The Kiesinger-Strauss stand proved three fundamental points in astounding Washington, London and Paris: (1) The Germans refuse to be treated any longer as a defeated nation. (2) They refuse to shoulder the burden for others' weaknesses. (3) They are strong enough to stand up to the pressures from Washington, London and Paris even on the grounds of Germany's international pride alone when these pressures mounted last November and again this past April.

By noon on that April day Washington, London and Paris were convinced that they had in hand a German decision to revalue. By 7 p.m. they realized with astonishment that the decision rested not with them but with Bonn.

Several public opinion factors supported Kiesinger and Strauss and put their opponents into a booby trap. First, the public here has a deep distrust of anything that even smacks of "monkeying with the mark."

on June 20, 1948, a total of 500 tons of newly printed banknotes were distributed among 48 million West Germans. These solid Deutsche marks were exchanged for the nearly worthless reichsmark inflation currency. The long lines of impoverished people queuing up in the industrial cities on that hot and humid summer morning were the last to be seen in postwar Germany.

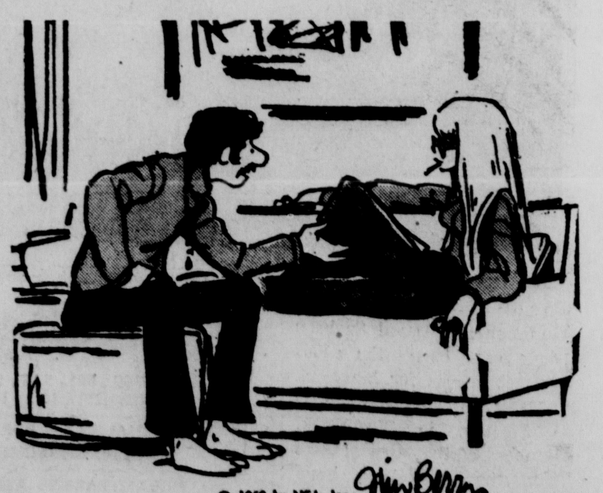

Inflation is the dirtiest word in the German political vocabulary and the public feels equally revolted by "monkeying with the mark" and the inflation abhorrence.

In addition, Brandt and Schiller could not deny that revaluation would reduce tax revenues. Under German law the federal budget must be balanced. The revaluation would put an estimated additional $560 million burden on the budget. Dr. Blessing, President of the prestigious Federal Bank, confirmed this.

Lastly, West Germany's farmers cast a total of about three million votes, and they are bitterly opposed to revaluation. The hardly realized fact is that agricultural prices here are fixed by the Common Market in dollars. Thus, the farmers would lose about $50 million for each percentage point of revaluation.

The Bonn position, shared in this financial capital of West Germany, is that the government will not tolerate revaluation unless it is accompanied by parity readjustments in Washington, London and Paris.

The financial experts here likewise claim that the fundamental we face in America in our gold and dollar crises is: Does the United States have control over its own economy? They say that any monetary system will work for us if we have a balanced budget and an equilibrium in our international balance of payments. But no system will work if the United States has endless budget and balance-of-payments deficits. "That is for sure," they insist.

"Why can't we talk about appliances and kids once in awhile like other people?"

TEEN SCENE: Indian Balladeer Sky's the Limit

Tell someone that Pat Sky is going to be doing two concerts in the Ulster County area this summer and you'll get one of two reactions. Depending on whether they've already been exposed to the Sky guy, they will either say, "WOW!" or "Who?"

Frankly, we were who-doers. But now we've done our homework, and we know where we're going to be next Saturday evening. We're going to be at the Municipal Auditorium here in Kingston, Sky-jiving.

Patrick Sky is a 25-year-old American Indian who was born in Liveoak Gardens, Ga., and reared in LaFouche Swamp, La. He was hearing country and folk music before he could talk—the genuine stuff, not the garden variety. He hasn't left his background behind him. He still talks Liveoak Gardens, dresses Liveoak Gardens, and looks Liveoak Gardens. One writer said he resembled a cross between Charles Laughton and Charles Bronsten. Actually, that writer was being kind. Patrick Sky looks like a well-scrubbed potato.

Tingles Scalps

Usually, he even sings Liveoak Gardens. When he doesn't, he makes scalps tingle. He shuns electronics and is noncommittal about the recent tendency of fellow musicians to group. He himself may add a couple of backup men sometime in the future. His music, itself, is in the American ballad tradition, direct, relaxed, melody-filled, and often, very funny. Critics have sometimes used such terms as "too lyrical" and "escapist." Other critics have said he is the "best young songwriter since Bob Dylan," and a "revered folk guitarist." Well, that's what makes politics!

In his songwriting, Pat Sky says his goal is "to write lyrics with meaning." Many contain well-barbed comments about everything fro rock musicians to Indian reservations. Pat himself feels his music reflects "subtle philosophy" rather than "blatant protest." Sometimes ("Separation Blues," "Don't Want You Hanging' 'Round") his expressions of "subtle philosophy" are very funny. Other times ("Many a Mile," "Jimmy Clay") he can be serious—deadly serious, throat-tighteningly serious, so serious he makes the skin crawl down our backs.

One thing he gets serious about easily is what America has done to Indian citizens. Whether silly or somber, his songs reflect the big interest in his life—poetry. While he isn't too wild about the trendy poets such as Ginsberg and Ferlinghetti, the classic poets have had, he feels, a great influence on both his life and his music.

Toured Britain

Pat has just returned from a triumphant tour of Great Britain, where he felt he scored better with audiences than he usually does in America. The audiences scored better with him, too. He said upon his return, "American audiences tend to be apathetic. With the English audiences you get good heckling." Most performers can do without that kind of audience participation, but Pat, with his hip talk and corny humor would probably come out ahead in the exchanges.

In addition to countless performances on college campuses, and in the tiny clubs and coffeehouses of the Village, Pat Sky has soloed at both Town and Carnegie Halls. His two Verve albums, "Reality Is Bad Enough," and "Photographs" are among the best-sellers for that label. He made his movie debut in a small film with a big message, "Down the Road," a pro-conservation flick for which he also wrote the music.

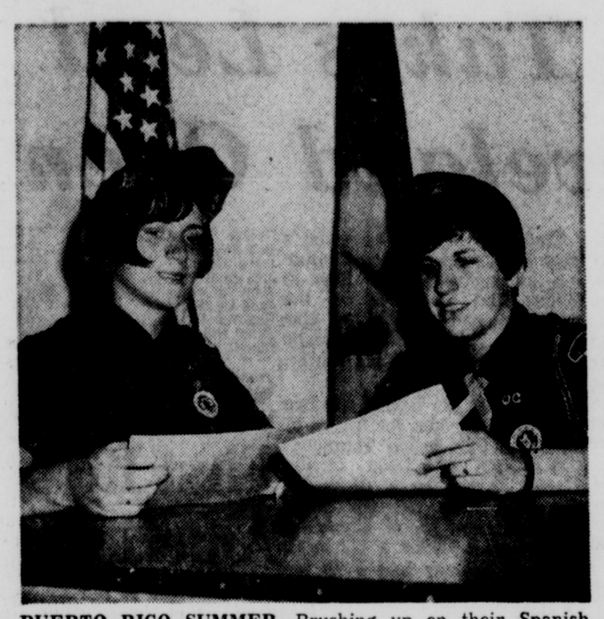

In addition to his July 5 concert at the Municipal Auditorium in Kingston, Pat is scheduled to give a concert at the Woodstock Playhouse later this summer. Hopefully, he will find audiences here far from apathetic. However, anyone tempted to provide him with some "good heckling" had better remember that they're taking on a cat who's been compared to Will Rogers, W. C. Fields (of whom he can do a side-splitting imitation, incidentally), Glen Campbell Groucho Marx, Johnny Cash, Geronimo, Andy Griffith, and Bob Dylan. To say nothing of a potato.

Of course, if you're still game, take on the Sky. But don't be surprised if you wind up in orbit!

KINGSTON

Summer is the time for travel and Kingston area teens are on the move.

Among those with travel plans are two Senior Girl Scouts selected for participation in a Spanish Language Session at Elisa Colberg in Puerto Rico. Rita Mary Senor of Kingston and Theresa Shekitka of Mt. Tremper were chosen by the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts for the island hop.

Forty-eight Senior Girl Scouts from Caribe Girl Scout Council, Santurce, Puerto Rico, will hostess 72 girls from 14 councils in New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts for 18 days of camping and home hospitality. There they will foster an interest in the Spanish language, acquire speaking and writing skills, widen their cultural background, make new friends and practice living and working together with girls from different environment. In addition, the girls will take part in sightseeing tours of the island.

Other Activities

Rita Mary, who last year was selected for the World of Arts Conference-Drama, will be a senior at Kingston High School in the fall. In addition to her Scouting activities she is very active in the YWCA and CYO youth groups. Her hobbies are oil painting and music, and she hopes to be an art or music teacher. Rita Mary is the daughter of Mrs. Rita Senor, 616 Kiersted Avenue, Kingston.

Theresa, a graduating senior from Onteora Central School, is certified in Red Cross Life Saving and First Aid. An experienced camper, she is a member of the Girls Athletic Association of Onteora High School, a member of the Leaders Club and National Honor Society. She plans to attend college to major in physical and recreational education. Theresa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Shekitka, All Seasons Camp in Mt. Tremper.

Y-Teen Parley

Meanwhile four members of the Kingston YWCA Tri-Hi Club will return to the city tomorrow after attending the annual Greater New York Area Y-Teen Summer Conference in Lebanon, N. J. Darlene Green, Martha Hansen, Marianne Dowgird and Carol Schupp represented Kingston at the session which started Wednesday.

Also attending is Y-Teen Naomi Hatcher of the YWCA Rondout Club and Miss Joan Freeman, YWCA teenage program director of Kingston, who is doubling as conference recreation coordinator in addition to her usual duties.

Aptly the conference theme this year is What's Right for Me. Participants explored areas of peace, justice, freedom and dignity.

The delegates are expected to return to the local scene brimming with ideas to enhance the area YWCA program for young people.

Both the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts and the Kingston YWCA are member agencies of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Kingston Braves Defeat Wappingers, 9-8

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON — Hard-hitting first baseman Joe Schabot drilled a long shot to deep centerfield, scoring Greg Rios with the winning marker in the bottom of the seventh as the Kingston Braves defeated the Wappingers Ions, 9-8, in a Mid-Hudson Rookie League tilt Friday night at Dietz Stadium.

The Wappingers entry had the locals on the run as they jumped on Braves' starter Ray Zappone for eight runs in the third inning. Ted Bream came in to relieve his teammate and shut the losers out over the last four innings, gaining the win. Ron Paino took the loss.

Schabot's shot would have been a home run under normal conditions, but he had to settle for a double because he had reached second when Rios scored the icer.

Jolting Joe picked up two ribbys, while Charlie Moore drove in three and Rios, two.

Rios Stars

Rios, classy third baseman for the Braves, was the game's statistical hitting star, going three-for-three, with his two RBI's and three runs scored, including the winning run. However, Schabot's belt entitled him to the heroes crown for the evening.

Bernie Schaffer also had two-for-three with a run scored for the Braves. Tom Brooks, Bob Dunkly and Bill Budd had two hits each for the Wappingers nine.

The winners tallied two runs in the bottom of the first as Mike Derrenbacher reached base on an error, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a double by Mike Patrick. Patrick went to third on a passed ball and scampered home on a sacrifice fly by Rios.

The losers came back with eight in the third.

Ken Jennings started things off with a walk, moving to third on a double by Brooks. Paino reached base on a fielder's choice, loading the bases. Dunkley singled in Jennings. Brooks came home on the sacrifice by Bob Cook.

Zappone walked the next two men to face him. After Dunkley scored on a passed ball, Al Lupone singled in Mike O'Brien.

Enter Bream

Braves' Manager Paul Giannuzzi made a pitching change at this jncture, bringing in Bream. Bream walked Jennings to score Budd and then gave up a double to Brooks, who drove in three runs. Brooks tried to make it a triple, but Schaffer threw him out at third from his catching position to end the inning.

Bream became almost untouchable from that point on as the locals chipped away at the Wappingers lead.

Giannuzzi's boys came up with a run in the fourth, as Moore drove in Rios and then exploded for five to tie the tilt in the bottom of the fifth.

Schaffer had an infield single and came home on a booming triple by Mike Derrenbacher. The shortsop scored on a single by Rios, after Patrick walked. Jerry Hawkins walked to fill the sacks and Moore hit a double to score Patrick and Rios. Schabot then drove The Hawk home on a sacrifice fly.

Schabot then performed his heroics in the seventh.

The Braves play host to the Cornwall Missiles tonight, 8 o'clock at Dietz Stadium. Kingston now has a 5-4 record. Charlie Moore will go tonight against the visitors.

In other games Friday, Middletown beat the Nuclears, 9-4 and league-leading Beacon topped New Windsor, 4-2.

McNally, McDowell Gain Victories

By United Press International

Thinking has been the key to success for Dave McNally and Sam McDowell this season. McNally has stopped doing it and McDowell has started.

McNally, Baltimore's unbeaten left-hander, pitched a five-hitter Friday night for his 11th victory of the season as the Orioles downed the Detroit Tigers 4-1.

McDowell, Cleveland's ace southpaw, allowed six hits and struck out 10 batters, including the 1,500th of his career, as the Indians scored a 5-1 triumph over the New York Yankees.

"I don't believe in thinking about what I might be doing wrong," said McNally, who set a club record with his 13th straight victory, "as much as I let it work itself out by doing it. Too much thinking can hurt rather than help."

McDowell, who now has won seven games in a row and is 10-6 this season, had a simple explanation for his success. "I'm not worried about getting more strikeouts," said McDowell, "although I was going for the $1,500 mark early in the game. I couldn't find the spot and Duke (Sims) settled me down. He did a good job. He called for pitches that I wouldn't have thought of throwing. I just followed his calls."

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City outslugged Minnesota 9-8, Boston beat Washington 4-2, Oakland nipped Chicago 1-0 and Seattle won 5-2 after California had won the doubleheader opener 5-3.

Paul Blair hit his 17th home run of the season, a two-run blast in the second inning, and Boog Powell and Dave Johnson drove in single runs in the Orioles' victory. Detroit's only run off McNally came on Don Wert's sacrifice fly in the fifth inning.

Cleveland scored three runs in the seventh inning to break a 1-1 game. Singles by Jose Cardenal, Larry Brown and Sims accounted for one run and Ken Harrelson singled in the 1st two.

Coody Takes Lead In Cleveland Open

AURORA, Ohio (UPI) — Charles Coody, a six foot two, 185 pound golfer from Abilene, Tex., calls himself just an average touring pro.

"If you took all the golfers on the tour and compared their games, I'd be right at the green," he says. "I'm not a real long driver. I'm not an exceptional wedge player or anything else."

Coody's description of himself sounded ironic today to 73 other golfers who qualified Friday for the final two rounds of $110,000 Cleveland Open.

The 31-year-old burned up the par-70 Aurora Country course Friday with a record tying 64, that left him with a 131, nine under par two round total and a four stroke lead.

Coody, looking for his first major victory since the 1964 Dallas Open, said he's never been that far ahead at 36 holes.

Coody, had seven birdies, and only one boegy. He missed only three greens, and had only 28 putts.

He said the windy courses in Texas had accustomed him to the gusty breeze at Aurora but added, "I still don't like it."

In last week's Kemper Open at Charlotte, N.C., Coody fired a final round 65 to take second place. He's been 16 under par in his last three rounds.

Tied for second as today's play began were Bruce Crampton, an Australian who lives in Dallas and plays out of the Bahamas, and John Schlee, also of Dallas, a 31-year-old pro who nearly quit the tour this winter. Both had 66-69 135.

Coody left far behind the two men tied with him for frst at 67 after the first round Thursday. U.S. Open champion Orville Moody soared to a 67-78—145 and just mde the cut while Jerry McGee, 25, of Elysburg, Penn. had a 76 for a 143 total.

Arnold Palmer had a 69 for 143. Jack Nicklaus stood at 73-68—141.

Closer to the leaders was Jim Colbert, 28, of Kansas City, Mo., who had a 67 Friday for a 136. Colbert played in Crampton's threesome and said the Australian's play "was so slow I lost my concentration."

Tom Aaron of Calloway Gardens, Ga., and George Hixon of Tulsa were tied at 138 after rounds of 67 and 70 respectively.

Gardner Dickinson, winner here two years ago, shot 70 to tie three others at 139.

Four were at even par 140, including Bob Charles of New Zealand who had a 67 and Chi Chi Rodriguez, who had 69.

The Bomber Is Released

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis was released from Beekman Downtown Hospital late Friday, one day after a physical collapse, first thought to be a heart attack.

Miss Joan Reed, a spokesman for the hospital told UPI, "Mr. Louis signed himself out of the hospital at 7 p.m. (EDT) and was placed in care of his own physician who flew in from Detroit."

It is believed that the famed Brown Bomber and his doctor are en route to his hometown, Detroit, for further tests and a quiet rest.

Earlier Friday Louis was listed in satisfactory condition, but in the Manhattan hospital's intensive care unit to undergo further tests.

Louis fans from around the world flooded the hospital with calls and get well wishes after the champ collapsed on a street Thursday. Extra hospital workers had to be called in to man the switchboard to answer queries concerning their celebrity patient.

Reds Top Jints, Mets Lose, 3-1

(By United Press International)

A couple of Cincinnati roommates teamed up Friday night to add support to the popular belief that pitching is at least 75 per cent of the game.

Jim Merritt hurled a six-hitter in the nightcap after roomie Gerry Arrigo hurled six strong innings in the opener as the hitting-rich Cincinnati Reds swept the San Francisco Giants 4-3 and 9-1.

Even with five .300 hitters in the lineup, the Reds started the night four games behind the Western Division-leading Los Angeles Dodgers. But with two strong starting performances from Merritt and Arrigo the Reds cut the deficit to 2 1-2 games and added their sixth .300 hitter in Lee May.

Besides Rose's homer and run-scoring single, Marichal now 9-3, also surrendered an rbi single to May, whose four hits in the doubleheader raised his average to .305, lowest of the six over the .300 mark.

In other N.L. games St. Louis defeated Chicago 3-1, Philadelphia shaded Montreal 8-7, Houston edged Atlanta 5-4, San Diego blanked Los Angeles 5-0 and Pittsburgh topped New York 3-1.

Patek Homers

Fred Patek hit the second homer of his major league career and Steve Blass, with relief help from Joe Gibbon, won his eighth game as Pittsburgh beat New York.

Patek's fifth inning homer help send Jerry Kossman to his fifth defeat in 10 decisions. The Mets managed only three hits and did not score until the ninth when J. C. Martin singled home their only run.

Gonzalez Set To Face Ashe

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Pancho Gonzalez, the United States champion in 1948 and 1949, takes on Arthur Ashe, the U.S. Champion of 1968,. in the feature match of the fourth round of the all England Tennis Championships today.

Gonzalez, now 41 years old, won an epic 112 game match over Charlie Pasarell in the opening round, breezed by the 23-year-old Ove Bengsston of Sweden in straight sets in the secound round and on Friday demolished Tom Edlefsen of Fort Walton Beach, Fla., 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

Ashe, who has not won a major tournament since his triumph at Forest Hills last year, has had his troubles on the European circuit this year, and here at Wimbledon, where he gained the semi-finals a year ago, his path has been far from smooth. He was carried to five sets before defeating Graham Stilwell of Britain in a third round match Thursday, but the day of rest may help Ashe, 25-years-old, who is ranked No. 1 by the USLTA.

Another major duel will bring the defending champion and the world's top rated player, Rod Laver of Australia, against young Stan Smith, the American Davis Cup player who is third ranked by the USLTA.

The United States and Australia have six men each in the eight mens singles matches scheduled and 13 of the last 16 are from the seeding list.

In the ladies' singles, six U.S. women and five Australians remain..

Bob Lutz of Los Angeles, who scored a brilliant upset over veteran Ken Rosewall on Thursday, meets John Alexander, the 17-year-old Australian who downed compatriot Terry Addison in five sets Friday.

Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., has his hands full with second-seeded Tony Roche of Australia and Clark Graebner of New York is paired against Spain's Andres Gimeno.

Only Lutz, Alexander and Britain's Bobby Wilson were not among the top 16 seeds when the tournament began Tuesday. Wilson is paired today against third seeded Tom Okker of Holland.

Two of the remaining Australians play against each other when six-seeded John Newcombe meets 11th seeded Fred Stolle.

Most of the veteran pros managed to get by their third round opponentns Friday in straight sets and there was none of the spectacular play that delighted the crowds during the first three days.

Shamrock First In American

As reported to the sports department of the Kingston Daily Freeman the Deaf Club who was trailing in a game with Hercules at the end of six innings 24-15, were granted a forfeit win over Hercules, since Hercules delayed the progress of the game.

In action that wasn't forefeited Shamrock took over first place in the league with a 5-4 win over Blue Gardenia, Shamrock is now 7-1, Perry's 5-1 and Blue Gardenia 6-2.

McDonalds led by Mike Fabiano's home run, triple and single topped the Mets 15-2 in a game that was halted after five innings due to the 13 run lead rule. John Stelson had a triple, double and single for MacDonald's.

Dave Lowe led the Shamrock victory with a home run and two singles.

Other homers for the night were hit by: Tim Bowens, John Armstrong and Joe Hoffman.

Bobbe Huntress Nipped At Wire by Nevele Song

MONTICELLO — Bobbe Huntress, Monticello Raceway's only lady driver, almost had her first victory at the track this season when she led Seymour J. ahead of the pack throughout the featured fourth race trot only to be nipped by Nevele Song, driven by Mike Vicidomini.

Time for the event, which carried a purse of $4,500, was 2:04.1. There was every appearance that it would have been set by Bobbe Huntress' charge, but she lost a homestretch duel by half a length to Nevele Song who racked up his best winning time of the year and his second victory of the season in three starts.

Horsemen and fans alike are rooting for Bobbe to score a victory since she has proven herself to be a capable and sports-lady-like competitor. Her first appearance at Monticello this year was as a member of the American ladies' team that was pitted against their Italian counterparts on May 31. Bobbe also had a race in the opening event Friday night, Shadydale Ginger, who came in fourth.

Bobbe took Seymour J. through the circuit briskly, chalking up :30.1 for the quarter, 1:01.3 for the half, and 1:33 flat for the three-quarters. Coming in third in the trot was Valiant Jimmie, Donald Wiest the driver.

The daily double combination at the Mighty M on Friday night was 4 and 2, returing $35.60.

From the performance point of view, there was nothing particularly remarkable about either pace. Gay Lands, winner of the first event, with Frank Annunziato at the reins, cut the mile in 2:09.4. She has done better, both this year and the other five years of her career.

The second race was taken by Melody Fly, a six-year-old horse driven by Gene Montgomery, who stepped the distance in 2:05.3. This was the best time of 1969 for the son of Dragon Fly-Saida, but far from his lifetime winning record, made as a four-year-old, of 2:03.4.

K of C Undefeated in Babe Ruth Baseball

KINGSTON — The Knights of Columbus won over the Volunteer Firemen by a 13-0 score and topped Chidsey-DeForest, 6-2, while Hurley Lions Club edged Kiwanis 7-5 in Babe Ruth League action.

The Knights 6-2 win was a fine pitching stint by Mike Palladino who gave up a single and triple, while striking out 13 and walking eight.

Charlie Barton, Dick Hoffstatter and Chuck Piratzsky had two singles each to supply the offense in the 6-2 victory.

Jim Ferraro shut out the Firemen on just two hits, to keep K of C undefeated with a 5-0 record. Ferraro struck out eight and walked five. Ferraro also collected a triple and single in five trips to the plate.

Bill Weishaupt led all hitters with a triple, double and a single in five at bats.

Glen Stoutenburg had three hits in four trips to the plate for Kiwanis in a losing cause as Hurley Lions won 7-5. The boxscore for this game was incomplete and we were unable to publish it.

Ed Priest took away a hit with a fine catch of a line drive over second base. Looked like Bobby Richardson.

Kickers Host Major League Team

MORGAN HILL

Kingston Sport Club followers get a preview of German-American Football Association soccer—Major League style—when the Kickers host the redhot German-Hungarians of New York Sunday at 3:15 p.m. at Oehler's Mountain Lodge.

German - Americans placed second in the recently completed Major season, after leading most of the way. They were the only team to beat the league champion Greek Americans.

A powerhouse squad, the German-Hungarians feature an explosive forward line and sturdy defense. The team furnished several players for the U.S. National Soccer Team. They will be the first Major League squad ever to show at Oehler's.

Fritz Weber, Sport Club president, has announced that veteran Heinz Ulfig will handle the Kickers through the summer exhibition season. Manager Bob Graves will return to the squad when the 1969-70 Major League campaign gets under way in September.

Ulfig, one of the original members of the Kickers and an serving as Graves' assistant. He piloted the team to its brilliant victory over Hoboken in the playoff for second place in the Premier Division two weeks ago at Randalls Island.

The win automatically earned the Kickers a promotion to the highest league in the GAFA.

An added attraction Sunday will be a preliminary between the KSC Old Timers and the Hanseatens of Long Island.

Some of the all-time Sports Club greats are expected to participate in the contest. All Kingston area old timers who would like to play are asked to call Ingo Froehlich, the KSC public relations director and

Two Rosendale women were given sentences and placed on probation in City Court Friday for shoplifting at Britt's Department store last week.

Michael's Nip Cambell's, 1-0, in 13th

MICHAELS HD

SAUGERTIES

Mouse Wolven of Michael's Barber Shop and Frank Allen of Campbell's were the key participants in a 13-inning marathon won by Campbell's 1-0 in the Yankee Division of the Saugerties Softball League.

Allen, who yielded six hits and fanned eight, got the victory, his second in five decisions. It was a particularly gratifying win, as he had lost a 12-inning 1-0 game earlier this season to the undefeated Spartan Pools of Kingston who lead the league with a perfect 4-0 record.

It was a tough loss for Wolven, who gave up but three hits and struck out 16. He was responsible for the ice himself, however, as Billy Costello tapped him for a long double, moved to third on a sacrifice bunt and scampered home on a wild pitch by Wolven.

Ties League Record

The 13-inning marathon was the longest 1-0 game in the history of the league and tied the loop record for the longest game.

In Met Division action, Paul's Shell downed McConekey's Funeral Home, 5-3; Helmoortel's Insurance edged A. J. Scarselli's, 7-6, and Ferroxcube romped over the Knights of Columbus, 11 to 6.

Charlie Cavanagh collected two hits and Paul Kulikowski had three RBIs for Paul's. Wayne Dederick had a two-run homer for the losers.

Helsmoortel's squeaker over Scarselli's marked the second straight night a Conference leader was dumped from the lead. In a see-saw battle, Helmoortel's pushed across two runs in the top of the seventh, scoring the tying run on a third-out muffed pop fly and taking the lead on Terry Carlisle's squeeze bunt.

Only one of the Insurers runs was earned.

Ferroxcube won the game but it was a great moral victory for the Knights of Columbus, who are now 0-7. The game was the first in seven that the Caseys did not have the 10-run rule invoked against them.

Aside from this, it was "Curt Douglas Night." He started and won his first game and led the defense with a pair of round-trippers.

Fred Prichett rapped a double and two singles and Frank Spinneweber a trio of singles for Ferroxcube, Henry Rua rapped a single and bases-loaded triple for Scarselli's.

Summer Cagers In July 7 Opener

Kingston Recreation Department's summer basketball league opens Monday, July 7, at 7 p. m.

As in the past two summers, the league will operate in two divisions — the Collegiate or Adult division, for males 18 years and older; and the Scholastic Division, for young men up to 18 years.

Games will be played daily Monday through Friday at 7 p.. m. in the municipal auditorium.

Teams interested in participating are requested to contact the Recreation Department prior to July 1 to be included in the scheduling.

Interest in the league is reported at a high peak, with six teams already signed for the adult division. League officials hope for a minimum of six teams and not more than eight in each league.

Joe Namath-Pete Rozelle Closer to Settlement

MILTON, Mass. (UPI)—Controversial quartecback Joe Namath said Friday he and football commissioner Pete Rozelle got "a little closer" in their dispute over his New York restaurant during a two-hour closed door meeting the day before.

Namath, who announced he would retire from the New York Jets rather than sell the restaurant, Bachelors III, said he and the pro football commissioner would meet again next week, probably in Los Angeles, to continue talks.

Namath, here for a one-day stint as "visiting Professor of Quarterbacking" at Jim Colclough's summer football camp at Curry College, also revealed that he had studied more "mug shots" during the meeting with Rozelle on Thursday.

Namath said the commissioner showed him pictures of people. He described the photos as head and shoulder type shots with no visible background.

Namath, in an hour-long press conference attended by more than 100 students of the football camp, said he had seen only "two or three" of the people in the pictures before but declined to say who they were or whether he had been able to identify them.

While he said "nothing definite" had been settled during his first confrontation with Rozelle, Namath said both had made a few suggestions concerning the commissioner's order that he sell the restaurant or get out of football.

"We got a little closer but we've got a long way to go," adding that no date had been set for the Los Angeles meeting because both he and Rozelle have other commitments.

West Eleven Big Favorite

ATLANTA (UPI)—It looks like West Coach Pepper Rodgers has what it takes for tonight's Coaches All-America football game to settle that Orange Bowl score with East Coach Joe Paterno.

Even without O. J. Simpson, one of a host of big names from last year's college scene who are unwilling to play, because of bogged-down contract negotiations with the pro teams that drafted them, the West is rated a solid favorite for the nationally televised (ABC, 8:30 p. m. EDT) all-star game.

Rodgers is coach at Kansas which lost 15-14 to Paterno's Penn State Lions last New Year's night when an extra Jayhawk on the field gave the Easterners the extra play they needed to win.

Rodgers has his Kansas quarterback, lefthander Bobby Douglass, and a glittering array of runners — including All-America fullback Bill "Earthquake" Enyart of Oregon State, Eugene "Mercury" Morris of West Texas State, Paul Gipson of Houston and Ron Sayers of Nebraska, pro star Gale Sayers younger brother.

Lyle Schuler Hits Grand Slam

Lyle Schuler slapped a grand slam home run, his eighth homer of the season to lead the Dodgers to a 33-3, romp over the Tigers in the Hurley Little League.

Schuler added 3 singles and teammates Scott Landers and Bob Bedell each stroked 4 singles.

Marc Beaumont led the Tigers with 2 singles.

Dear Abby

Not So, Popular Soon

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell someone (a relative) that it's time she and her husband gave a party? When this couple moved to town three years ago, they didn't know a soul. We introduced them to all of our friends, and now our friends are their friends, too.

They are attractive, charming people and well-liked by all who know them, so they are very popular, but if they don't hurry up and start inviting some of these people back, they won't be popular much longer.

Since we did sponsor them, we feel somewhat responsible for their social sins of omission. What do we do? I can hardly hold my head up.

NO TOWN, PLEASE

DEAR NO: It's not necessary to stick your neck out in order to hold your head up. If you "like" this couple and are seriously concerned about their threatened loss of popularity as well as the reflection on yourselves, tell the lady in a nice way that if she's planning to entertain, you'll be glad to help her. If she doesn't get the drift, well, you've done your part.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: In a few weeks I am going to become an American citizen. What is the correct thing to do on this occasion? Do you send out announcements or invitations to the ceremony? It is open to the public, but does this mean family only?

Should I have cards printed? It is such a big event for me I want to do something, but I don't know what. Can you help me?

FUTURE CITIZEN

DEAR CITIZEN: Why not have a private party and invite those with whom you'd like to celebrate the occasion? Printed cards are not necessary. A telephone call or a little note will do. Congratulations.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have enjoyed your column very much. I have never written to anyone for advice before, but now I feel I should.

First let me explain that we have been happily married for 27 years, have 3 wonderful children and 5 grandchildren, so we are not kids.

Now, the problem: I would just love to sleep on satin sheets, and now I see that they are for sale and I want to buy some, but my husband says that no man would sleep on satin sheets! We have decided to let you decide whether I should buy them or not.

"YES OR NO"

DEAR YES: Buy one set! If your man sleeps on them with no complaints, buy more.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 17 who needs some advice badly. My boyfriend is a very nice guy, but he asks me questions which are none of his business.

He says if I don't tell him what he wants to know it means I don't love him or trust him. He also says that no matter what I tell him about myself, he won't hold it against me.

We've been going together for a year, and this is the only thing we ever fight about.

He insists that the past should be forgotten, yet he keeps nagging me to tell him everything about mine. I never ask him any questions about his.

What should I do, Abby? I really love him, and I don't want to lose him.

IN A CRUNCH

DEAR IN: Tell your inquisitive boyfriend that he is absolutely right — the past should be forgotten, and if he persists in questioning you, it means he doesn't love or trust YOU.

We don't think much of the North-South bidding of today's hand. Their cards warrant the bidding of a grand slam.

There are 13 tricks at clubs if the suit breaks 3-2 so it was just as well for North and South that they only reached six.

It was also just as well that South knew how to make 12 tricks against West's five trumps.

He played dummy's queen of trumps at trick two and stopped to plan the entire play of the hand. He had to cash as many side suit cards as possible before getting around to doing some cross-ruffing.

Furthermore, he wanted to ruff in dummy first. He started by cashing dummy's second high diamond. Then he played three rounds of spades in order to discard dummy's four of diamonds. So far everything was going fine. His next step was to cash his ace and queen of hearts. He had to get them home sometime and he didn't want to take the chance that West might get a heart discard on the third diamond.

Then he led the third diamond. West still had to follow suit but that didn't really matter. By this time South was in full command. He ruffed with dummy's six of trumps and led a heart. It didn't matter which heart he led since he ruffed it with his king of trumps. West was down to trumps by this time and had to underruff.

Then South led his last spade. West ruffed with the 10 and South was in the pleasant position of being able to make his contract by either overruffing or discarding dummy's last heart. Actually he overruffed, led that last heart, ruffed with his nine of clubs and made his 12th trick with dummy's eight after West took his jack.

Beauties Are No Rockettes

NEW YORK (AP) — Most of the beauties who will compete next month for the title "Miss Universe" know nothing now about dancing beyond the ballroom variety. In a little more than three weeks, the 60 or 70 girls from all over the world will be performing as a dance troupe.

Viewers tuned in one the finals of the contest July 19 will know they are not watching the June Taylor dancers or the Rockettes, but if Gene Bayliss' luck holds, the contestants will get through a big production number with a certain amateur charm and maybe even grace.

Bayliss, a director-choreographer with wide Broadway and television experience, also teaches dancing to contestants for "Miss U.S.A. and "America's Junior Miss.

"I always assume there will be no dancers among the girls," he said. "I start out by encouraging them: If you can walk, run, jump hop and count to eight, you can dance. That is true."

He is already blocking out the "Miss Universe" number on paper.

"I use only the very simplest steps:—basic rhumba, Cha-Cha and backside front," he continued. "I use a lot of follow-the-leader stuff. I work with geometric figures and put the girls into a moving pattern that will substitute for real dancing."

Bayliss will put the girls through a cram course before and during the hectic week of preliminary judging. He will rehearse them in groups of 15, also throwing in some instructions about moving gracefully when they are parading solo in swimsuits or evening gowns.

"We show them three ways to keep more or less together," he said. "I teach them to count, usually up to eight and then start again, as they take the steps. We choose music that is familiar to most of them so they can follow it. And, often, the lyrics help—they know that when the singer comes to the word 'moon,' it's time to turn left.

"It usually works, but of course, sometimes you're stuck with a girl who really has two left feet."

City Convention May Be an Omen of Things to Come

THE COUNTY BATTLE for chairman should prove very interesting after Mel Mones's "surprise" victory over Jimmy Rapp for city chairman on Thursday night.

Actually, Mones surprised a good many committeemen by running at all. Several told us as of noon on Thursday Mones had flatly refused to go for the city chairmanship. The reasons were similar to his turning down the mayoral run—his new job took up a great deal of time; he was running for county legislator and couldn't afford to get embroiled in city politics; he liked it in the county legislature and preferred to serve on that level.

Mones' supporters may have been disappointed but at least they had an acceptable alternative in Jimmy Rapp. After all, Rapp had organized the drive that led to the successful "fun and social hour" in April that virtually bailed the party out of debt. Money talks.

The late line had Rapp a unanimous winner. No opposition was expected from the other two candidates, Pete Fisher and Jim Martin. The election of Fisher would have been too obvious an endorsement for mayoral candidate Jim Tyrrell, whom Fisher strongly supported in the recent primary. The politicians are taking a wait and see attitude on Tyrrell. Tyrrell could be the greatest thing ever to hit the party or he could be something quite the opposite. Time will tell.

MARTIN'S NAME has been bandied about quite freely when it comes to elective office. His supporters might be advised to check with him before spreading scuttlebutt.

Meanwhile, back at the convention, eight o'clock roles around and Mr. Mones is discovered to be very much the candidate. Of course he can't win. He started too late.

Mones 20, Rapp, 16.

One might ask how this ties into the county convention where Judge John Sterley is pitted against challenger Albert Spada.

Actually, its a game of association stemming from the bitter Bell-Savago primary fight last year. It's safe to say that time heals all wounds but one year is only an instant in political history.

A year ago Mel Mones was a strong supporter of Pete Savago, the party's nominee for assembly who ultimately lost the primary battle to H. Clark Bell. Judge Sterley was also party chairman at the time and a strong supporter of Savago. Ergo, Mones-Sterley.

We'll assume that Mone's allegiance hasn't changed in the past year. We figure Rapp-Bell since it's unlikely that two members of the same faction would publicly compete for the same office. Mones-Sterley against Rapp-Bell.

Mones played it cool in this one and wound up with all the marbles. The judge also plays it cool, praising his opponent in somewhat condescending tones, Spada, according to the judge is young, energetic and good-looking with a good head of hair. Poor old judge hasn't got a chance. He's not even running.

Neither was Mones.

CONVENTION NOTES—The Republican committee showed a great deal of collective class with its treatment of John Ray Mayone. The members gave Mayone back his chairmanship, if only for a half hour, and twice accorded him standing ovations. Politics is often unrewarding work. It's times like those that make it worthwhile.

John Machione is sometimes referred to as "the lawyer" among his associates for his habit of questoining the legality of almost everything. Machione had questioned the legality of the secret vote at the March 24 convention that nominated Tyrrell. Thursday night Machione admitted to the full committee that he had been wrong in his stand against the secret vote and offered his apologies. One has to admire a man who admits to an honest mistake.

CITY BITS—John Heitzman, First Ward Democrat, raised the justified ire of Assemblyman Clark Bell with his news release of Thursday concerning the Ulster Arterial.

Heitzman has offered a resolution to the Common Council in regards to the arterial which says in part, "Whereas our state senator and assemblyman are either unable or unwilling to use their influence to arrange a construction date for this arterial earlier than 1972. . ."

Bell took exception to the "unwilling or unable" language and we agree with the assemblyman. Both he and Jay Rolison, the state senator, worked hard on the problem including four hours of meetings (to name one occasion) with engineers of the Department of Transportation in Poughkeepsie. They did the best they could and should be commended, not criticized for their efforts.

SPLASHIN' GOOD — Youngsters frolic in pool at Forsyth Park in time honored way to beat the heat. Temperatures climbed well into the 90's Friday and there is little relief in sight for weekend, despite late afternoon thundershowers predicated for today. Expect Nixon to Witness Splashdown of Apollo 11

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Nixon is expected to travel to the Pacific for the splashdown of America's moon-landing Apollo 11 astronauts July 24. The trip may be extended to include a possible meeting with government leaders from nations fighting with the United States in Vietnam.

An announcement from the traveling White House press headquarters probably will be made this morning.

Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler was expected to announce at the traveling White House press headquarters here the President's choice for assistant secretary of health, education and welfare for health and scientific affairs, climaxing a five-month controversy within the administration.

Nixon referred to the forthcoming moon-landing shot, scheduled to blast off July 16, in remarks at the Place de Nations in Montreal Friday.

He said that while the first man on the moon would be an American, "he will come from all the world."

The President was joined by Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau at the international border atop the Robert Moses-Robert H. Saunders power dam near Massena, N.Y., Friday for ceremonies commemorating the 10th anniversary of the seaway, the giant complex of locks and dams that allows ocean-going ships to travel 2,400 miles into the North American Continent.

Nixon and Trudeau traveled to the flag-bedecked Dwight D. Eisenhower Lock on the U.S. side for brief commemorative ceremonies and then flew by helicopter over the island-dotted waterway to Montreal for a similar ceremony on the Canadian side at the Place de Nations, a colorful, banner-festooned plaza on the site of what formerly was Expo 67.

The President paid an hour-long visit to his dentist here Friday evening and then flew by helicopter to the suburban home of Readers Digest President Hobart Lewis in Bedford Hills, a plush New York suburb, for the night.

Lewis is a long-time Nixon friend.

Mid East Accord Eludes the Big Four

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diplomatic sources said Friday night they expect the Big Four U.N. ambassadors to recess their weekly talks about a Middle East peace settlement after Tuesday's meeting.

These infornants said the big powers had been unable to agree on a progress report they hoped to issue. They said deputies from the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Britain would continue discussions.

The ambassadors have held 14 weekly sessions since April 3 trying to agree on how Israel and her Arab neighbors should settle their June 1967 war.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik already has left New York. He sailed Thursday on the liner United States for two months' home leave.

Lord Caradon of Britain and Ambassador Charles W. Yost of the United States plan to attend a U.N. meeting in Geneva next month and the French Ambassador Armand Berard is taking a month-long vacation trip in the United States beginning July 10.

Meanwhile, a Security Council meeting was set for Monday at which Jordan will protest Israel's treatment of Arabs in the occupied old city of Jerusalem.

Citing a council resolution that called on Israel not to change the status of Jerusalem, the Jordanian ambassador Muhammad H. El-Farra said Israel had disregarded it by deporting four Jordanians from Jerusalem and moving 88 persons from their homes in the old city Wednesday.

'Tiger Woman' Captured by Police Convicted Killer Escaped in 1962

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — Winnie Ruth Judd, conviced of double murder in a sensational trial in 1933 and missing since she escaped from an Arizona mental hospital in 1962, has been captured in a suburban village east of San Francisco where she was working as a domestic.

Sheriff's Lt. Robert Sang said the woman convicted of murdering her two best girl friends in Phoenix in 1931, and shipping their remains to Los Angeles "steadfastly denies she is Winnie Ruth Judd."

But Sang, a crew-cut veteran detective, said he identified her through fingerprints, old photos and a scar on her left index finger.

He conceded that the woman who was working as a cook and housekeeper under the name of Marian Lane 'looks about 10 years younger" than Winnie Ruth Judd's 64 years..

WINNIE RUTH JUDD

Seventh Escape

The woman, who says she's 54, is plump and matronly compared with the wasted woman who walked away from Arizona State Hospital seven years ago in her seventh escape.

She was picked up at 2 p.m. Friday by Sang and Sgt. Joe Walsh at the Danville home of Dr. John Blemer, a general practitioner vacationing with his wife in Europe.

Sang said "everything she has indicates she is Marian Lane," but that "information from both inside and outside" California, as well as his own fingerprint check, led him to believe Marian Lane is Winnie Ruth Judd, once known as "the tiger woman."

He booked her as a fugitive from an Arizona mental institution and said Arizona would extradite her.

The woman was located during checks on the still unsolved homicide death in nearby Alamo of Mrs. Z. Alexander Aarons, wife of a psychiatrist. She was beaten to death last April 28.

Sang said Lt. David Gardella, a detective for 25 years, checking license plates on cars visiting the psychiatrist's home office, came upon one registered to Marian Lane.

He located her in Piedmont, a section of Oakland, working at the home of a deceased elderly couple whose estate was being liquidated.

Sang said Gardella, now in Italy, did not suspect the Lane woman of being involved in the Aarons murder, but "felt there was something wrong" about her. Investigation led him to suspect she was Mrs. Judd, and after more checks the arrest was made Friday.

Sang said that before coming to the Bay area—he did not specify when—Mrs. Judd apparently had been in the Los Angeles area for some time. He refused to say how long.

The one-time "tiger woman" gave up quietly, Sang said. He brought her in for booking dressed neatly in a dark dress with a wide white collar. She smiled broadly at news cameramen. It was almost 36 years ago that Mrs. Judd was arrested in Los Angeles when she sought to claim two trunks. Authorities who had spotted blood dripping from one made her open them.

Inside were the remains of Agnes Ann Lerio, an X-ray technician, and Hedvig Samuelson, a schoolteacher, both of Phoenix.

Wins Sanity Hearing

Mrs. Judd was convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged in 1933, but 72 hours before her execution she won a sanity hearing.

She was judged insane and committed to a state hospital where she escaped a total of six times over the years but always was recaptured quickly.

On the seventh try, in 1962, her hospital clothing was found on a building nearby, and no further clues ever were announced that pointed to where Winnie Ruth Judd had gone. By this time she was 57, haggard and looked little like the attractive blonde committed nearly 30 years before.

Charge Harassment

Jose Hernandez was taken into custody by Kingston Police last night on a complaint by his wife and daughter that he was beating them up.

Hernandez, 42, of 12 Wiltwyck Avenue, was charged with harassment by Marie and Anita Hernandez.

Wallkill Music Festival Really 'In'

Ticket Sales Boom—Expo Extended

SWEETWATER, new group that's been electrifying audiences at Fillmore East, gets set to appear at 3-day Aquarian Exposition opening Aug. 15 in Wallkill. Known as The Woodstock Music and Art Fair, giant festival will offer free music, poetry and craft workshops along with 12 hours of top rock entertainment each day.

THE JEFFERSON AIRPLANE, high-flyingest group on the scene today, has signed for the Woodstock Music and Art Fair, taking over 500 acres of Wallkill countryside from Aug. 15-17. Roster of top rock talent booked for the Aquarian Exposition also includes The Band, Blood, Sweat and Tears, Arlo Guthrie, Creedence Clearwater Revival, Iron Butterfly, Laura Nyro, and The Who.

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

This August a bombshell will explode on the rock music scene. And the fireworks will take place right here in Ulster County in the first major music festival of its type in New York State.

Festivals of such gigantic superabundance have gained large followings in Monterey, Miami and Newport—but, until this summer, Empire State lovers of contemporary music had to be satisfied with an occasional musical get-together inside the metropolitan confines of Manhattan.

Now, however, what may prove to be the giant pop festival of them all is headed for 500 acres of cleared countryside in Wallkill. Top rock acts, including Janis Joplin, Jefferson Airplane and Blood, Sweat and Tears, have been signed for what is being called the Woodstock Music and Art Fair—An aquarian Exposition.

Thousands Expected

The festival of contemporary music and art had originally been announced for Aug. 16 and 17 as a two-day event expected to draw crowds of 100,000 per day. Such a figure was not too difficult to believe inasmuch as the All Star bill would include, along with those listed above: The Band; Canned Heat; Creedence Clearwater Revival; Crosby, Still and Nash; Arlo Guthrie; Tim Hardin; Richie Havens; Iron Butterfly; Laura Nyro; The Moody Blues; Sly and the Family Stone; and Johnny Winter.

Even so, the response that followed the initial announcements exceeded expectations. Directors of the Woodstock Fair said this week that the demand for tickets has been so brisk, they have now added a third day to the festival. Friday, Aug. 15 is the new kick-off date—and music and art will now rock around the clock at Wallkill for a three day stand.

Because of the third day extension, new acts have also been signed, including some top British groups. To the array of talent already announced, the roster now includes: The Who; Joe Crocker and his Grease Band; Incredible String Band, Ravi Shankar, Joan Baez, The Grateful Dead, Santana Blues Band and Sweetwater.

But, hang in there, music lovers, the wealth of musical entertainment is still not complete. Says the multi-million dollar entertainment complex Woodstock Ventures, Inc., sponsors of the mammoth event: "Contract negotiations are still underway for additional talent."

An Art Fair

All of which means that many a road will lead to Wallkill where scene-makers will be satiated with 12 house of music per day for three days (2 p.m.-2 a.m.). Interspersed with the headline acts will be a big open air exhibition of contemporary painting, sculpture and photography. Five hundred exhibitors are contributing to the Art Fair portion of the event, a feature offering scholarships and prizes to outstanding work in a competitive invitational show.

Also planned: free music, poetry and craft workshops, and performances by on-the-fringes theatre groups, along with sculpture-gazing at 20-foot reproductions of the signs of the Zodiac, slated to mark the perimeter of the performance and spectator area.

On a specially designed stage arena, the biggest names in the pop music world today will perform before crowds coming from all over the Catskills and throughout the east to see versatile musicians romp through their repertoires.

The new price schedule released this week to take into account the addition of a third day scales tickets at $7 for one day, $13 for two, and $18.50 for all three days. These prices are based on purchase in advance from Woodstock Ventures, Inc., Box 996, Radio City Station, New York, N. Y. 10019. Tickets will be offered at the gate in Wallkill, but will cost $8 per day.

Roster Includes Woodstockers

Most of the talent for the festival will come from San Franciso, England and other points west and east. The Band and Tim Hardin, however, could well be called local talent. The Band, who made the hit album, "Music From Big Pink," backed Bob Dylan on some of his concert tours and have been living in Woodstock with him. "Big Pink" (named for the pink house in Woodstock where the group lived and worked) became one of the year's musical events, in the way that a new album from the Beatles or from Dylan himself is always an event.

The group includes five musicians—Jaime (Robbie)

A Never-Never Fantasy World

The wooded charm of Spa State Park, and the sparkling, shimmering brook adjacent to Saratoga Performing Arts Center blends with the gossamer sheen and never-never fantasy world of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" for a bigger than life presentation of George Balanchine's full-length ballet which the New York City Ballet presents for the opening weekend of SPAC's fourth season, July 3, 4, 5 and 6.

An all-star cast of favorite dancers heads the list in the same work that inaugurated the first Saratoga Performing Arts Festival in 1966. The second of four full-length ballets by Balachine now in the New York City Ballet repertoire. "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was the first to be made into a full-length movie which has been seen in all the leading theaters of America since it was released two years ago.

Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" is one of his happiest and most loved comedies. It is called a "Dream" because of the unrealistic happenings that occur to the characters in the play real, yet unreal events such as crossed lovers, meaningless quarrels, forest chases leading to more confusion, and magic spells woven by the infamous Puck. The music for the ballet used all the works composed for Shakespeare's play by Mendelssohn, plus incidental music.

Wedding Ceremony Added

George Balanchine's choreography for "Dream" follows the play closely. One main difference, however, is to be found in the second act. In place of the play by the tradesmen in celebration of the marriages of the lovers, Balanchine has inserted a beautiful wedding ceremony complete with a brilliant Pas de Duex to be danced by two of the leading members of the Company.

In addition to the entire company of more than 75 dancers plus a full symphony orchestra of 65 players, conducted by Robert Irving, some 25 children from the upstate area, including five from Kingston, will take part in the performances.

Bringing "A Midsummer Night's Dream" to Saratoga will be no mean feat. The elaborate sets, designed by David Hays, take about three days to pack, transport and set up again. Karinska's magnificent costumes, both real and fanciful, take as much care in packing and shipping as the sets.

Performances of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" during the inaugural season of the Saratoga Performing Arts Center in 1966 drew capacity audiences to the Amphitheater. Ballet lovers wanting to assure themselves of good locations for this brilliant work for its four performances as well as for the other nine programs in the four-week season of the New York City Ballet should purchase tickets now.

For a detailed brochure listing all programs of the New York City Ballet under George Balanchine, and The Philadelphia Orchestra under Eugene Ormandy, write to Saratoga Performing Arts Center, Saratoga Springs, N.Y. 12866.

EDWARD VILLELLA IN "A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM"

Beards on the Male Pulchritude Scene

IT'S REALLY 1969 at the Depuy Canal Tavern in High Falls, but it could just as well be 1797 when that historic hostelry first opened. Bending an elbow at the bar in the Barge Room of the landmark inn, present day High Fallers (beared, mustached, sideburned and sporting headgear of yore) could be posing for a daguerreotype out of the past.

JOHN NOVI, new owner of Depuy Tavern and the man responsible for restoring it with old-fashioned flair, has restyled his image to fit the inn. With hair below his lobes, beard and mustache, it's obvious he digs groovy growths.

COFFEE MADE STRAIGHT from the beans in antique pot over fireplace that really works, is brewed by Rob Gannon, whose bush formation would be called "dignified" by some; just "plain muff" by others.

A Side Order of Mutton Chops

Comb Ulster County today, and you'll find the shaggiest sideburn society since the Civil War sprouting in High Falls. The emergence of beautiful beards on the male pulchritude scene in that community has nothing to do with the hippie movement, however. Local businessmen, civic leaders, historical society members, tycoons and tradesmen, fathers and sons are all draping their faces with side curtains of sideburns, muttonchop whiskers, moustaches and other bush formations such as Van Dykes, goatees, handlebars, dignified beavers, Nehru types, and just plain muffs.

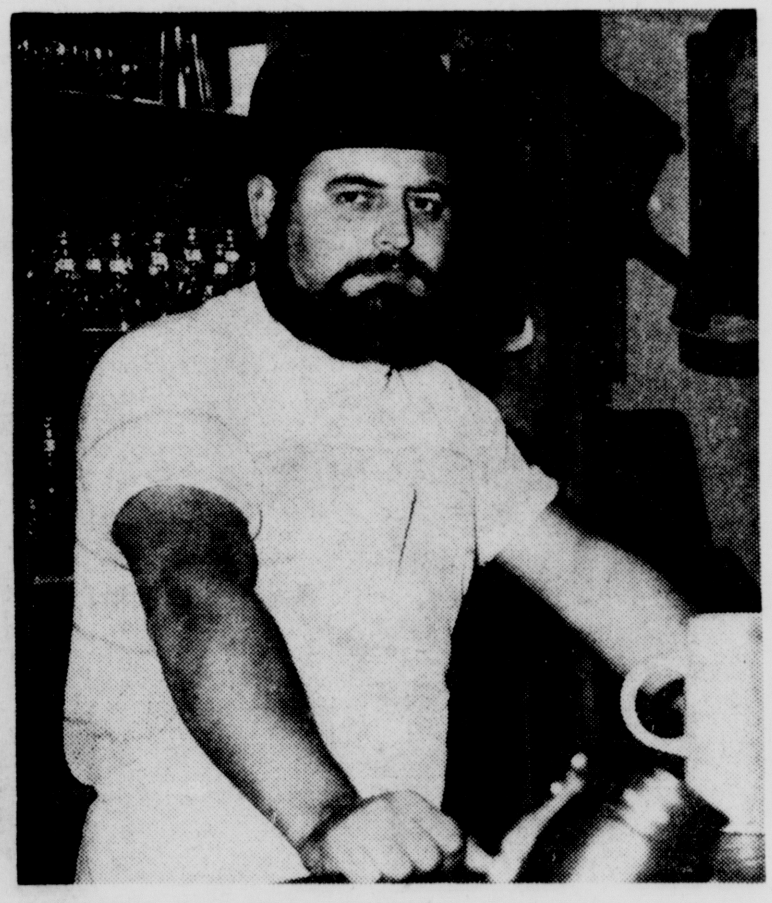

The beards bash in High Falls honors the community's current 300th birthday celebration, holding forth in high tercentenary style throughout the current year. If more than one upstanding High Falls citizen has hair down to his lobes, making him look like a hippie's father, everybody knows their images have been restyled just for fun. Many of the growths are very groovy tufts, and they'll all be on display at an enormous spectacular in the village over The Fourth of July Weekend. Blooming sideburns, moustaches and other hair power sprouts will join in a big parade run by the fire company.

Flaxen, waxen, curly, fuzzy, snaggy, shaggy hair will be on view at the mass community picnic, carnival, penny social, sound-in and fireworks display following the parade of marching bands and other organizations. Everyone brave enough to grow a beard will be awarded a certificate on the 4th to relieve the committee of the impossible task of judging winners in a beautiful beards beauty contest.

Cheeky foliage and under-the-chin warmers of present day High Fallers fit well into the environs of John Novi's Depuy Canal Tavern there, a 1797 inn just restored and reopened. 'Midst all the antiques, kerosene lamps, roughhewn beams and bags of coffee beans, the man who has not cultivated enormous muttonchops whiskers or a Brussels sprout moustache is the man who looks out of place and out of time as the hair apparent in High Falls today. Growing bushes has proved an interesting experiment there and one that colorfully accents the village's founding three centuries ago. (T. G.)

A GAME OF CARDS and its inevitable kibitzers—all part of the scene 'neath the lamplight at Depuy Tavern. Beautiful beards on display belong (L-R) to: Frank Lynch, Jeff Rask, Bob Anderson and Dewitt Hasbrouck. (All photos by Freeman photographer Bob Haines)

HONORING THE BEARDS BASH at High Falls is Don Lafera, whose beavered Van Dyke bears strong resemblance to the blimpy burns once affected by Britishers. If 'twere not for the bowler and the apron, Don looks as if he might have led the charge of the Light Brigade.

Saratoga Plots a Season to Remember

PETER, PAUL AND MARY need no introduction to folk buffs. Long etstablished as one of the top groups in the country, the trio has a fantastic following around the globe. P&P&M have made such songs as "Blowin' in the Wind" and "If I Had a Hammer" anthems that have rallied millions to the cause of civil rights. Students of folk and linguistics will be able to see them in person in the Saratoga Amphitheater on the night of July 28.

MASTER OF COMEDY and acknowledged "King of the Knightclub Circuit," BILL COSBY is worth travelling hundreds of miles to see. Fortunately for us, "Old Silverthroat" is bringing his unique brand of humor to Saratoga, close enough to make his appearance a "must-see" event. Lovers of "I Spy," Cosby albums and Weird Harold should order their tickets now for the Cosby show at Saratoga Springs on Sunday, Aug. 31 at 3:30 p. m.

JANIS JOPLIN, she of the magnificent peek-a-boo bang and magnificent voice, will appear at a pop concert in Saratoga's big indoor-outdoor theater late in the summer season. Thrown in for good measure will be the Joseph Cotton Blues Band. You can see them both if you motor up to Spatown for the 8:30 p.m. event on Wednesday, Aug. 27.

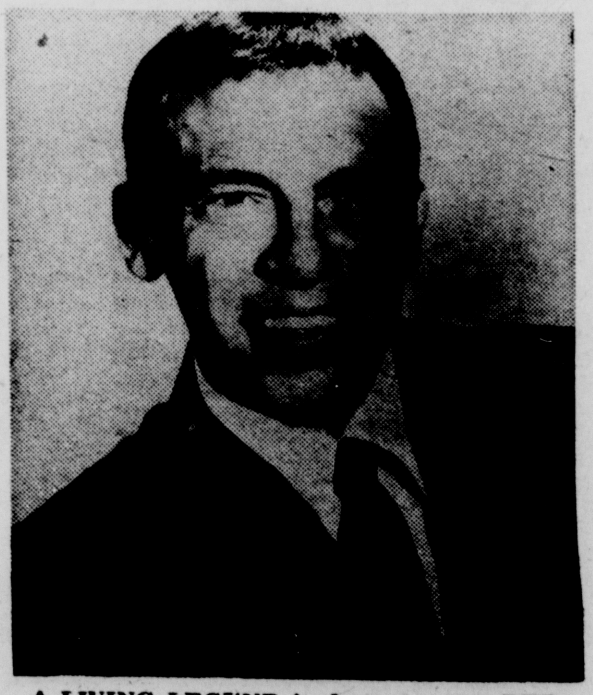

THE FIFTH DIMENSION was all smiles when the singing quartet accepted its Granny Award during the 10th annual presentation ceremonies for superiority and excellence in the recording industry. Dimension, which has appeared on every top television show and in every major nightclub in the country, brings its lyrical, liquid style to the Saratoga Performing Arts Center for a superlative Special Event on Aug. 19 at 8:30 p.m.

TONY BENNETT, who left his heart in "San Francisco" to the tune of more than a million best-selling records, will bring the voice that sold 'em to Saratoga Center on the evening of Aug. 11. For those who like their ballads dreamy, sentimental and sung Italiano style, the Bennett concert will be THE concert to see.

CUTE BRITISH BIRD of "Downtown" fame, PETULA CLARK, will leave the city lights behind and head Upstate to the pastoral surroundings of the historic spa on July 14. On the night of that day, Pet will be featured in one of the many Special Events slated during Saratoga's eight-week Summer Festival.

A LIVING LEGEND is drummerman BUDDY RICH. If you're old enough to wax nostalgic about the "Big Band Era," you'll want to see Rich with the Buddy Rich Orchestra when he drops into the Saratoga Performing Arts Center for a one-night stand Aug. 4. Also on the bill that evening will be O. C. Smith, worth a concert in himself and guaranteeing this as one of the most fabulous Special Events of the summer.

On Woodstock Plahouse Stage

Just One Laugh After Another

SWITCHING FROM THE ROLE of a womanizing, middle-aged cook to a bachelor dentist from one week to the next, personable and ever-so-talented George Gitto has the lead in the current and upcoming Woodstock Playhouse productions. He's the cook of "There's a Girl in My Soup," running through June 29, and the dentist of "Cactus Flower," the comedy booked for July 1-6.

Woodstock Playhouse continues its run of fun-filled evenings. THERE'S A GIRL IN MY SOUP! running through June 29 will be followed by Abe Burrows' long-running Broadway hit CACTUS FLOWER, July 1-6.

THERE'S A GIRL IN MY SOUP is a witty comedy of situation: Robert Danvers, professional cook, has a hunger for yummy young ladies as well as for sumptuous foods. When we first meet him, he has a "bird in the oven," so to speak, and has the undisguised admiration of his married friend, Andrew, who is encumbered with five kids and a menagerie of animals. But fate is not to let Danvers alone. At a party, he picks up a pert mod thing called Marion, who settles in comfortably to share his bed and board—until her boy friend, Jimmy, comes on the scene. Before the play is over, Danvers learns that no man can afford to be totally smug, especially if he's middle-aged and on the wrong side of the generation gap.

Robert Danvers is played with impeccable savoir faire by George Gitto. Barbara Houston is his cool young redhead who is costumed in the wild mini-prints created by Woodstock designer, Cindy Whittaker, courtesy of The Victoria & Albert boutique.

The sets, designed by Harry Moss, are dressed up with shining pots and pans, brilliant enamel ware and utensils from the Gilded Carriage's Country Kitchen.

CACTUS FLOWER, July 1-6, evolves around the peccadilloes of Dr. Julian Winston, who is, believe it or not, a sexy dentist. One day—or night—Dr. Winston has a great idea: He tells his girl friend, Toni, that he is already married. And Julian Winston has the best of all possible worlds going for him, until Toni, despondent over her position as "the other woman," attempts suicide. She is rescued, of course, but not by Julian. Her deliverer is called Igor, and he lives right next door to her. Thus does the plot thicken and Julian's tidy set-up starts to break apart.

There is another woman in Julian's life, his receptionist, Stephanie; but of course he's never paid any attention to her. That's Julian's mistake...and he multiplies this basic error by asking good old Stephanie to pose, for Toni's benefit, as his now going-to-be-divorced wife. What happens next is the beginning of the end of Julian's wonderful world and his dilemna becomes our delight!

George Gitto will play the lead womanizer. Mary Ellen Ray will be cast as Stephanie, the part created on Broadway by Lauren Bacall. Others in the cast are Barbara Houston as Toni, Ned Leavitt as Igor, William Metzo as Senor Sanchez, Phil Gushee and Janey Day. Director for both productions is Harold Baldridge, designer Harry Moss and lighting designer, C. Mark Markley.

Tickets are available for all performances. For reservations or information call 679-2015 or write P.O. Box 268, Woodstock, N.Y. 12498.

A PERT MOD THING is Barbara Houston, who ends up as the gal in the broth in "There's a Girl in My Soup" at the Woodstock Playhouse this week. In the theater's next offering, "Cactus Flower," Miss Houston turns up as the Greenwich Village girl friends of an attractive painless dentist, whose title as "the other woman" in his life plunges her into abject despair.

Only in Saratoga Will Actors Replace Horses

The novelty of the setting could only happen in Saratoga. Where but there could actors, singers, dancers and instrumentalists perform in an arena designed for horses? Or use horses' stalls for dressing rooms?

Even Saratoga might have proved impossible for the experiment if its beautiful new Fasig-Tipton Pavilion didn't just happen to follow architecturally the design of an arena theater.

But it does and so the Saratoga Performing Arts Center will present three festival performances this season in the pavilion, marking the first time an arena, built for the sale of yearling horses, will be used as a concert hall.

Ideal and Intimate

And the pavilion should prove an ideal, intimate location for the first two performances of a play with music, "An Entertainment for Elizabeth," by the New York Pro Musica. Pro Musica will take over the beautiful, air-conditioned pavilion with "Elizabeth" on June 30 and July 1. A third program by special arrangement between the Saratoga Center and the Fasig-Tipton Sales Stables will be a July 14 Chamber Music concert at the pavilion. This will be one of the regularly scheduled Monday night series which would otherwise have been held at Canfield Casino in Congress Park.

Sounds like theatrical excitement galore is in store since the pavilion's acoustics are perfect; its circular seating offers everyone clear sightlines; and it is unbelievably well adapted to use by actors, dancers and musicians, as well as yearlings.

If you're interested in any of these three SPAC Festival performances, write to Saratoga Performing Arts Center, Saratoga Springs, N. Y. 12866 for ticket information.

Up the Ladder

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Michael Payne, a mail boy at 20th Century-Fox, will appear in a featured role in "Run Shadow Run" for the studio.

Latin American TV

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Formation of a Latin American television network will begin this year, according to Paul Otamendi, President of the Venezuelan television network. Otamendi said cooperation in filming television series, already in effect between Venezuela and Mexico, would spread to Argentina this year, and that other Latin American networks would join later.

Raquel Welch, who'll have a TV special next spring, was asked what guest stars she would like to have with her. She decided she'd prefer Rod McKuen, Ringo Starr and Mae West.

Sugar Ray Robinson says he never again wants to play a bad guy and get killed as he did in his acting stint in Mission: Impossible. Says Ray: "I told those people, 'No more getting killed. Get me a part where I get the girl.'" But he doesn't get the girl in the episode of Mannix he filmed.

Hawaii Five-O will be back next season, complete with Jack Lord, James MacArthur and Richard Denning.

The Rowan and Martin stage version of Laugh-In opened with a great line in Philadelphia. An announcement was made: "Will the mother who left her nine sons at the ballpark please pick them up. They're beating the Phillies, 16-0." Rowan and Martin fans should like "The Maltese Bippy," their new MGM horror film, but are warned it is nothing like Laugh-In; was deliberately made different.

RANDOM THOUGHTS ON RECENT VIEWING:

NBC's Children's Theater, hosted by Bill Cosby, was an enchanting program that really held more appeal for adults than children as it focused on films shot by children from 5 through 12. Beguiling format had Cos chatting with more than a dozen youngsters from all parts of the country and all backgrounds.

A fine cast and taut script made "Companions in Nightmare" an interesting Monday Night Movie. The setting was group therapy, with one of the individuals a psychotic killer.

Very funny computer skit on the Jimmie Rodgers Show when Nancy Austin (tall, chubby and white) was matched with Stu Gilliam (short, thin and black), and the two tried to be very polite to each other . . . And lots of laughs, too, when the charming star of The Dick Cavett Show talked to Tiny Tim.

Slyly delicious was the British film, "The Jokers" on Tuesday Night Movies. Lots of plot twists, a fine pace and excellent performances made it a top theatrical release.

Slickly done program with some nice folk sound was The Mama Cass Special, starring Mama Cass Elliot, formerly of The Mamas and the Papas. The lady sings well and has ample acting ability.

Richard Attenborough gave a superb performance as a very British soldier trying to keep a stiff upper lip through personal and racial troubles in a newly independent African nation on Friday Night Movie, "The Guns of Batasi."

PICK OF THE PROGRAMS FOR THE WEEK AHEAD:

9TH ANNUAL COACHES ALL-AMERICAN GAME (ABC, 8:30 p.m.). From Atlanta (Ga.), collegiate football teams from the East and West clash in preseason play.

Sunday, June 29

21ST CENTURY (CBS, 6 p.m.). Repeat but a fascinating one that takes a look at the uncanny accuracy of science-fiction practitioners from writers of the 1880's. It also demonstrates the inaccuracy of real scientific prognosticators, such as those of the 1939 World's Fair.

MEMPHIS BIRTHDAY BLUES FESTIVAL (Channels 13 and 17, 8 p.m.). Highlights of an impressive and festive musical event, featuring Sleepy John Ester, the Insect Trust, Slim Harpo, Fred McDowell, Furry Lewis, Wild Child Butler, "Bukka" White, Piano Red and Soldiers of the Cross, all country blues and jazz musicians.

SUNDAY MOVIE (ABC, 9 p.m.). "Mickey One," a great film but way ahead of its time (it was released in 1965). Warren Betty stars as a nightclub entertainer on the lam from the mob.

Monday, June 30

MOVIE (NBC, 9 p. m.) "Banning" delves into the world of pro golfers and country clubs; stars Robert Wagner, Anjanette Comer, Jill St. John and Guy Stockwell.

NET JOURNAL (Channels 13 and 17, 9 p. m.) Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg assesses "The Warren Years" and their impact on American society. U. S. Chief Justice Earl Warren's 16 years on the bench and his court's tremendous effect on the changing face of American society are documented.

Tuesday, July 1

All networks will cover, approximately as follows: processions and gun salutes from 8-9:30 a. m.; arrival of Prince Charles and the Royal Family, 9:30-10 a. m.; official ceremonies, 10 a. m. to conclusion.

FIRST TUESDAY (NBC, 9 p. m.) The TV magazine, edited on camera by Sander Vanocur, covers such subjects as the Soviet "Soyuz" spacecraft, the U. CIRCLE OF THE MIND (CBS, 10:30 p m.) An electrifying dance repertoire workshop, choreographed in a discotheque by Miguel Godreau, and utilizing unusual electronic effects.

Wednesday, July 2

Thursday, July 3

TOM JONES (ABC, 9 p. m.) The exhausting but tremendous Welsh singer highlights the hour with some of his biggest hits; brings on such guests as Peter Sellers, Joey Heatherton, Richard Pryor, Mary Hopkin and the Moody Blues.

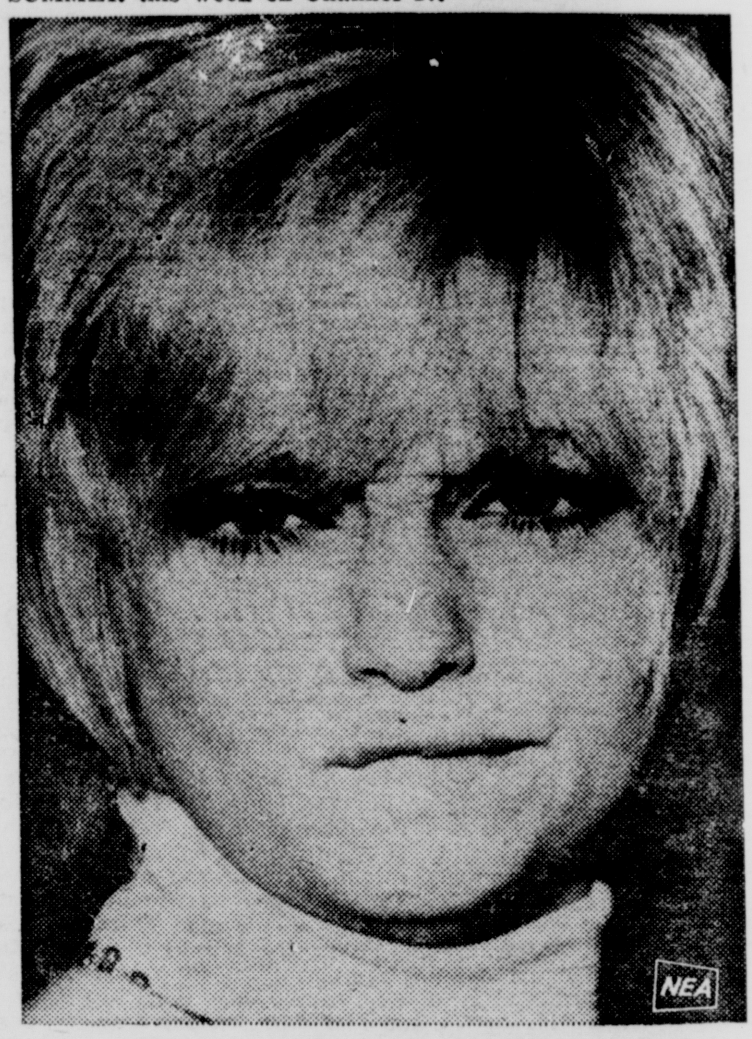

SUMMER FOCUS (ABC, 10 p.m.). "It Can Be Done" is the first in a series of progress reports on U.S. race relations. This one concentrates on a visit to Atlanta for talks with blacks and whites to gauge the success of efforts to diminish racial turmoil here.

Friday, July 4

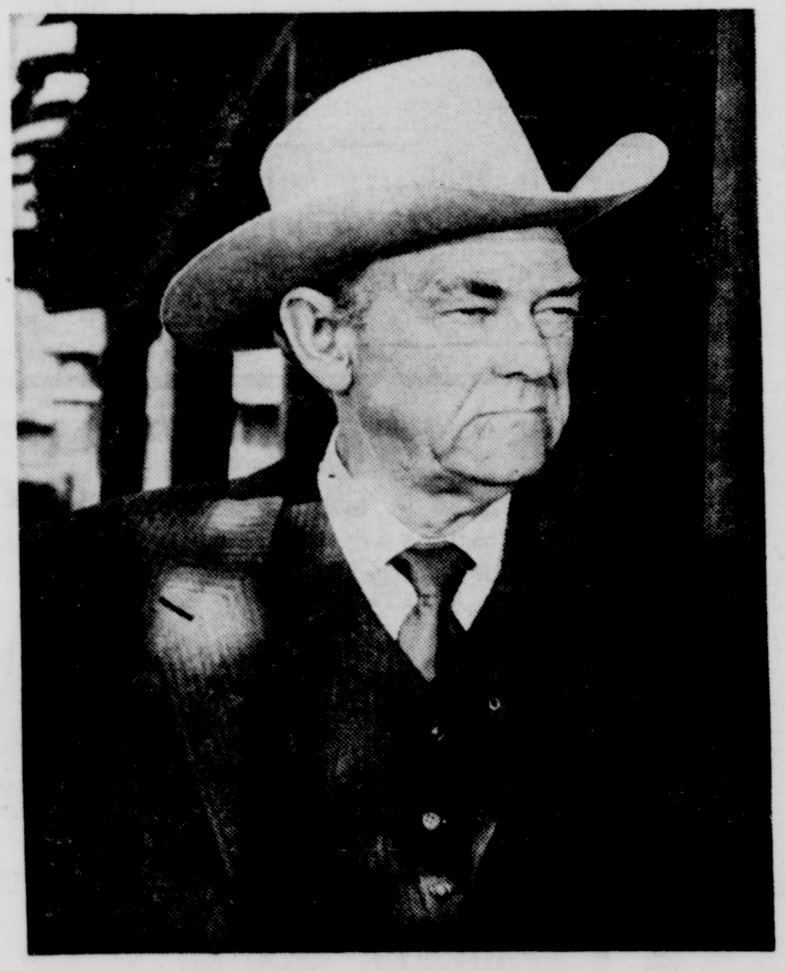

NET PLAYHOUSE (Channels 13 & 17, 8:30 p.m.). An earnest musician falls in love with a hopelessly soft-hearted young lady who brings him nothing but trouble in the comedy, "A Man on Her Back," starring a fine British cast. (COMPILED BY T. GEERTSEMA.)

JOAN KENNEDY, wife of Senator Edward Kennedy, narrated Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf" as part of the 'Boston Pops' Old Timers' Night, seen on SOUNDS OF SUMMER this week on Channel 17.

PLACE THE FACE? It's Goldie Hawn of Laugh-In, looking more pensive than dumb, giggling blonde. She has little reason for complaint, however. Signed for four movies, including "Cactus Flower" and "There's a Girl in My Soup," and for her own TV special next year, she'll do next season's Laugh-Ins, then graciously bow out of the show which created and assured her movie career.

JOHN McINTIRE is a regular cast member in "The Virginian" series. The veteran character actor fits so well in the part of the judge in the western show that many viewers have forgotten it was Lee J. Cobb who first created the role.

Sometimes Spontaneous:

Intersection Program

A new program has been initiated at Woodstock School of Art. Totally unique, it's titled Intersection; is intended to provide a place for an interchange of ideas related to all aspects of the human endeavor. Guests and faculty will criticize student work and speak at the school; panel discussions and slide seminars will be held; films will be shown; and field trips taken. The program has been formed in a manner which allows both scheduled events and spontaneous occurrences. It is founded on the principle that deep involvement in work provides a common area in a specialized culture, and that understanding can result through communication between superficially disparate fields.

The Intersection program was started recently with a talk given by artist Lon Clark. A variety of visual material was presented through the use of slides of paintings and sculpture. Poetry by Robert Frost, William Blake and Dylan Thomas was utilized through recordings, as well as music by the Beatles and Bob Dylan, and quotations by such painters and sculptors as Hans Hofmann, Auguste Rodin, Raymond Duchamp-Villon, Edwin Dickinson and Paul Cezanne. The talk, said Clark, was intended to present attitudes and questions, not answers; was divided into three sections: a presentation of painting and sculpture shown against poetry and music, comments in slides by Clark, and the showing of paintings against the words of the artists. The evening ended with the faculty of the school and invited guests sharing ideas and Irish coffee.

Much of the Intersection program is free and open to the public. Announcements of scheduled events will be sent to Tempo readers on request.

Hurleyville's Fair

Hurleyville's having a Country Fair (its first annual fete of the kind), and it'll take place Wednesday, July 9 to Sunday, July 13 in Morningside Park.

Sponsored by the Hurleyville Civic Organization (dedicated to improving the village), the big show will hold forth each day from 12 noon to 12 midnight; will feature more than a dozen colorful rides and close to half a hundred booming concessions.

And that's not all. On tap, too, are a spectacular fireworks display, a flea market filled with bargains, and other exhibits galore. A contract has been signed, sealed and delivered—guaranteeing that Great American Shows will be on hand for the entire five-day stand. Prizes will play a big part on each day of the fair, and the entire gala is open to the public with free admission and plenty of parking.

Where's Morningside Park, you ask? Why, in the Township of Fallsburg, right between the Village of Hurleyville and Loch Sheldrake. So gas up the family car and plan to go.

Curt in Comedy

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — German star Curt Jurgens returns to American films with a top supporting role in the comedy "Hello and Goodbye" for 20th Century-Fox.

If Vermont's Your Bag . . .

Now available is the new "CRAFT TRAILS OF VERMONT" put out by the Greater Vermont Association, the State Chamber of Commerce. This map and guide has a detailed road map with special identification symbols indicating where various craft shops, gift shops and country stores are located.

An added feature on the map this year shows the location of all of Vermont's more than 100 covered bridges including public highway, private road, railroad bridges, and bridges over the Connecticut River.

If you would like to see wood turned into bowls, how ham and cheese are smoked and cured, how maple sugar is made or see an original cider mill, a country barn, an original grist mill and an original hay fork manufacturing shop, you'll want to get this brochure. For your free copy of "Vermont Craft Trails" map and guide to places specializing in Vermontiana, send a post card to The Greater Vermont Association, Box 37, Montpelier, Vermont.

Four Nature Specials

one-hour nature specials of varied backgrounds will be on the NBC network during the new season under the over-all title "GE Monogram Series." They will be telecast in November, December, February and March. One deals with wolves and Alaska, another with Africa and the search for man's origins, a third with the Sahara Desert and a fourth with a mountain climbing expedition in the Himalayas.

Time Experiment

The ABC lineup for the fall will include a departure in program length in two cases. The experiment consists of two 45-minute shows on Mondays—"The Music Scene" from 7:30 to 8:15 p.m. and "The New People," an adventure drama, from 8:15 to 9.

Gidget's Growing

The "Gidget" television series was scrapped four years ago. Now Screen Gems is filming a feature-length film for ABC-TV titled "Gidget Grows Up" and starring Karen Valentine.

DICK VAN DYKE, right, has a new look in his newest film, "Chitty Chitty Bang Bang," which is all about a car. Gert Frobe and Sally Ann Howes are also in the cast of the movie musical, now playing at Kingston's 9-W Drive-In.

MAKE-UP TEAM TATTOOS Rod Steiger for his role in "The Illustrated Man," in which he stars with his former wife, Claire Bloom. It took six artists three days to decorate the star's entire body, and you can see the results at Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema where the science-fiction movie is now playing.

MOVIES

Chitty Chitty Bang Bang

Caractacus Potts (Dick Van Dyke) is an impoverished, crackpot inventor who enriches the life of his two motherless children with zany inventions ranging from a candy cane that whistles to a magic car, named Chitty Chitty Bang Bang (because of its sound), which not only runs but floats and flies. Miss Truly Scrumptious (Sally Ann Howes), the charming and practical daughter of a candy tycoon, wins over both father and children, and accompanies them in CCBB for a beach picnic, where Caractacus invents a story about the car.

His colorful adventure tale sweeps Chitty Chitty Bang Bang off to the mythical land of Vulgaria, where toys are made only for the mean old baron (Gert Frobe) and the Potts children are captured by a villainous child catcher. But Papa Potts comes to the daring rescue of his little ones and all the other imprisoned children in the kingdom. With the resourceful Dick Van Dyke flair equally resourceful Father Potts is always on hand to sing and dance his way through difficulties. The imaginary adventure—and the picnic—end happily on the screen of the local 9-W Drive-In, where this refreshing and totally recommended for the entire family film is now playing.

The Illustrated Man

Ray Bradbury is a superlative science-fiction writer and those who read him regularly will want to know that his 'The Illustrated Man" has been made into a movie, now showing at Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema.

It's an interesting film, to say the least, with that incomparable actor, Rod Steiger, cast in a trio of tales involving a circus roustabout's tattoos as he tells a young hobo how he acquired the weirdest skin engravings ever seen in technicolor. Seems he met a beautiful lady skin illustrator during some magical, mystical encounter in the long ago past and she persuaded him that the tattoo was a beautiful thing.

The first story involves a pair of youngsters in the future who take care of their parents in their futuristic nursery. It's a blood curdling tale, followed by a somewhat strange story of family-tragedy drama on a space-ship odyssey at world's end. Fantasies make up most of this movie, with Rod Steiger excelling in spite of all that skin art. Claire Bloom is lovely looking and emotes well as the lady illustrator and heroine of the tales and youthful Robert Drivas is fine as the young hobo. The photographers have come up with some of the prettiest pictures on view today; deserve "E" for excellence.

If . . .

Enthralling, disturbing and provocative, this British film, presented in a series of sharply etched episodes mixing fantasy with fact, explores the world of a prestigious English boys' boarding school, with its emphasis on tradition. As it unreels at Kingston's Mayfair Theatre currently, it details the built-in cruelties, the dominance of the strong over the weak, the casual acceptance of having, homosexuality and beatings, the intellectual lethargy contrasting with enthusiasm for sports, the stuffy influence of the military and the snobbery and hypocrisy of the administration and clergy.

The rituals and cruelties are noted more incisively than in any previous film on the subject, and the movie does a better job of depicting youthful rebellion than any preceding it. One cannot ignore the message in the corrupting master-slave relationship between the prefects and all other students, or fail to note the defensive alliances without friendships, the destruction of personal dignity, and the demand for group loyalty.

The story is told through the eyes of three rebellious seniors whose conflicts with the unyielding and unchanging system during the school year lead to murderous revolt on the last day. The film will disturb many because of its message and three nude scenes. But the nude scenes fit into the context of a movie that will leave you thinking deep thoughts and will remain in your memory for a long time to come with lasting impact.

Belle De Jour

French actress Catherine Deneuve is France's fastest-rising female star, and Spanish director Luis Bunuel has just made his 28th picture at the age of an acclaimed 68 with Miss Deneuve as the Belle in his "Belle de Jour," now at the Orpheum in Saugerties.

The film won the grand prize at the Venice Film Festival. Even so, it will not appeal to many. Others will not want to miss it. Belle is the masochistic wife of a successful young Parisian doctor who finds relief from her marital frigidity by working part-time in a house of ill repute. Most audiences will not find anything visually shocking about the film but the subject matter will repel some.

The movie switches back and forth between Belle's (actually, her name is Severine in the film) real and fantasy worlds so smoothly that it is almost impossible to say which is which, and no way of knowing what is fact and what is fiction.

Even so, it's all done with cinematic smoothness.

The Paper Lion

On the double bill at Kingston's 9-W Drive-In in this entertaining film based on George Plimpton's book about working out with the Detroit Lions professional football team. Alan Alda is appealing as an underweight misfit among brawn and muscles, and Alex March has turned in an excellent directing job which catches the flavor of the beef-on-the-hoof pro ball atmosphere. This is a woman's picture as much as a man's (kids will love it, too), and amusingly included are members of the real Detroit Lions.

99 Women and House of 1,000 Dolls

Two typical Hollywood efforts that emerge as bad Grade D movies and probably not for most of you. This double bill at the Sunset Drive-In is hardly our idea of good entertainment for an outdoors outing on a summer night. "The House of a Thousand Dolls" is sappy Oriental subterfuge, and "99 Women" is another supposed shocker about life in a gal's prison. (REVIEWED BY TOBIE GEERTSEMA)

In Which We Get Bypassed by a Concert Supreme

Pity poor Ulster County music lovers and sports fans, as well. In spite of the fact that we boast an Ulster Branch of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society, we see to have been bypassed on what could well be one of the most fabulous music series being offered in the U.S.A. this season.

We refer to those outdoor concerts of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic slated throughout July which will see The Fabulous Magicians, internationally known exhibition basketball team, performing with a symphony orchestra background provided by our own Philharmonic Orchestra.

Says orchestra conductor, Claude Monteux, who announced the first outdoor concert in the new "Sounds of Summer" series for Poughkeepsie's Riverview Park on Tuesday, July 8 at 7:30 p.m.: "To listen to the music of Tchaikowsky is exciting enough, but wait until our audiences see this great basketball team perform their routine with our orchestra."

Long Way to Travel

Tempo agrees that this is something that has never been done before, should attract large turnouts and send away pleased audiences. But we bemoan the fact that Kingston area residents who have supported the Philharomonic at its winter concerts here in the Community Theatre, and who have contributed to its fund-raising efforts, will have to travel to Poughkeepsie, Long Island or New Jersey to see some of the fruits of their efforts.

The closest Monteux and his orchestra and Magicians captain Marques Haynes and his team of basketballers will get to our area is at the Poughkeepsie concert on July 8. Other concerts in July will take them even further away to Orange County, Paterson, N.J., White Plains, Port Chester and East Meadow, L.I.

Too bad, because there's no doubt in our mind that it'll be a good show, performed outdoors and using the palatial new portable sound stage donated to the orchestra by a national brewing company. And Haynes, the "world's classiest dribbler," bouncing the ball as fast as three times a second to Bizet and Rossini should be fun for any audience.

They Forget the Rules

As sports fans, we've followed Haynes and his team for the past 16 years and their games are exhibitions that never take into consideration the rule books. We've seen them play to rhythmn-and-blues, making up their own rules as situations suggest, but never have we seen them play to the sometimes faster and livelier classics, since this is the first time any basketball team has performed with a symphony orchestra.

Too bad Ulster County missed out on this one, for whatever reason. Tempo is sincerely sorry it cannot report that at least one of the July concerts will be held in Kingston or New Paltz or another Ulster town, but a trip to Poughkeepsie's Riverview Park July 8 will be the only answer for many. Admission will be $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children.

There you'll see the New York State Award winning Hudson Valley Philharmonic, performing on its new portable sound stage — 40 feet long, 8 feet wide when traveling but extendable to a depth of 25 feet to comfortably accommodate 70 members of the orchestra. Supplied with its own generating and sound systems, it can be set up before performances by a two-man crew in less than an hour. The Fabulous Magicians will perform on another stage, front and center of the orchestra's. (T.G.)

The Voice of the Tourist Echoes in the Catskills

The Catskill Mountains, which Tempo readers enjoy year-round, are expected to attract vacationers by the droves this summer. And new and improved resort facilities are ready and waiting for the influx in Ulster's neighboring counties, Greene and Sullivan.

Figures forwarded to Tempo show a building boom almost everywhere but in Ulster. And from what we've observed of the tourist traffic throughout May and what we've had of June, one wonders why. With motel rooms, cottages and summer homes at a premium here, Ulster may very well have to turn away as many vacationers as it serves.

Greene County should not have that problem, since resort owners there have invested nearly $1-million in new construction and improvements. The Greene County Resort Association reports 600 new hotel and motel units ready for occupancy this summer, along with eight newly built swimming pools. Hotel rates are fairly attractive in that part of the Catskills; range from $50 to $140 a week American plan, which includes meals.

Riverside Units

Meanwhile, 400 new motel units have been built along the Delaware River in Sullivan County, according to the Catskill Resort Association.

Several new [illegible]ing pools have been added, giving Sullivan some 500 indoor and outdoor pools. The Town of Manakating has a new park and the Lake Superior Camp Ground has been enlarged and improved. A new five-mile hiking trail has been readied along the Neversink River.

Two new trailer camps, one at Hasbrouck, between Neversink and Bradley, capable of accommodating 150 camping groups, and a second near Narrowsburg with facilities for 500 campers, will be open this summer in Sullivan County. Harness racing fans will note a $1,000,000 improvement project at Monticello Raceway. The grandstand is being enclosed and 4,000 seats added, says the Sullivan County Publicity Committee.

Numbers and Rates

There are more than 170 hotels in the county, and almost 50 motels. Hotel weekly rates range from less than $100 to around $210. Motels average between $10 and $30 a day. Most resorts operate under the American plan.

Sullivan resorts feature entertainment, with the larger ones boasting Broadway and Hollywood stars. Most resorts have swimming, tennis, boating, riding, hiking, organized games and fishing. There are 28 golf courses in Sullivan County, one being a new nine-hole layout near Liberty.

Some of the most famous resorts in the state are in Sullivan County, an area with more than 25,000 hotel rooms, and with each motel averaging 30 units. The county also contains nearly 700 cottage colonies that rent for the season between $300 and $1,000.

Too bad we can't add any local statistics to this report—but there could be one ray of sunshine for vacationing tourists overflow. (T. G.)

Local Talents Behind Alien Footlights

LEWIS ARLT IN "THE CRUCIBLE"

This is the season of the year when dozens of young aspiring actors and actresses descend on summer theatres in the Catskills. To Woodstock, to Fishkill, to Cornwall-on-Hudson and other playhouses throughout the area, they come from across the country to work as apprentices, labor backstage on the technical aspects of producing drama and comedy, and to take to the footlights and savor audience applause.

In a reverse process, youthful Ulster County thespians often leave the area to seek fame and fortune elsewhere in theaters away from their childhood stamping grounds. Like their counterparts who hope working in our area will lead to Broadway, they travel afar to reach the same goal.

For Lewis Arlt, a college junior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Arlt of Woodstock, the route to becoming an actor led to the South Hampton Cabaret Theatre this summer. As an actor technician apprentice there, he'll work toward earning his Equity membership; hopefully go on to serious dramatic acting on the legitimate stage.

A State Award

Lewis, who received honorable mention for "Best Actor in a Supporting Role" in the State University College at New Paltz's touring production of "The Miser" at the New York State Theatre Festival in Corning this year, had never seriously considered acting as a career until after he enrolled at New Paltz.

"I got the bug in the fall of 1968," he said, and when one looks at the record, one can see why. Young Arlt [illegible] in three university productions during 1968, including Androcles and the Lion, The Crucible, and Summertree, and served on the lighting crew for Anything Goes. Actually, he seems as much intrigued by lighting and stage managing as with acting: will probably get full doses of each at South Hampton.

Lewis's superlative performances in such Paltz productions a The Hangman, The Crucible, The Miser — and his portrayal of the young Dylan Thomas in "A Child's Christmas in Wales" — impressed his professors enough for them to suggest that he try for acceptance at a top college known for its dramatics department.

He was more than successful in his efforts and, as a result, will be leaving New Paltz. Now accepted by the College of Fine Arts, Department of Drama, Carnegie-Mellon University, Pittsburgh, Pa., for this fall, he competed against 50 drama students to earn this honor. Following auditions held last winter in four major cities across the country, he placed in the top ten; came in first in New York, competing against 150 others.

Leans Toward Drama

All of which means that the handsome young Woodstocker seems well assured of a future on the legitimate stage. At the moment, he leans toward serious drama, but has to amit that his bout with comedy in "The Miser" was fun. The bigness of Pittsburgh after the smallness of New Paltz and Woodstock doesn't faze him, but he wishes the city of iron and coal was closer to New York. While studying at Paltz, he was in and out of Manhattan often to see plays and make contacts, but the 400 miles that will now separate 'im from the theatrical center of the world is his cause for concern.

Still, Tempo is betting that the brown-haired, hazel-eyed veteran of so many high school and college productions, and student of acting, dance and voice, has a bright future. And we hope our readers will remember we said so when he turns up on Broadway, out in Hollywood or on your home TV screen one of these days.

Another local youth will be entertaining theatre lovers with The Vineyard Players in Oak Bluffs, Mass. this summer. Among an enthusiastic group of college students who are affiliated with Ithaca College, but who migrate every summer to Martha's Vineyard, he is William T. Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Coles, Flower Hill, Kingston.

Parker, who returned to Ithaca this year after service with the U.S. Navy, is spending his first season with the Vineyard Players during their fourth sparkling summer in Massachusetts. He'll be performing in musicals, dramas, and comedies in an effort to promote good theater by legitimate troupers.

Has Comedy Lead

Actor Parker, a 1964 graduate of Kingston High School, will appear this summer in various shows, including Carnival and Lion in Winter; will be featured in the lead of the comedy, "A Thousand Clowns." At Ithaca he appeared in Brecht on Brecht and The Night of the Iguana, [illegible] spent two years with the College Dance Company.

The Kingston collegian expects to gain practical experience in every phase of the theater with [illegible] Players, a company sponsored by director-actress Margaret Webster, actress Katherine Cornell, and writer Max Eastman.

WILLIAM PARKER

To see these young area actors in action is to minimize the bad reviews being given college students these days. They balance off the criticism of riots and protest by being concerned with their careers and getting the most out of their college education.

With such talented young people as Lewis Arlt and William Parker to sustain our society and to keep the creative the growing thing that it is one can retain hope for the future. And one can hope, too, that success will come to both of them as outstanding stars of tomorrow. (T.G.)

Odd Couple Opening Drew Big Name Stars

They tell us Ed McMahon, Hugh O'Brian, Lee Meredith, David Frye, Robert Moore, Bernadette Peters and othet top figures in the entertainment world were there with bells on when the Playhouse-on-the-Hudson held its gala opening performance of "The Odd Couple" Wednesday night.

Pre-show festivities were hosted by the Cornwall-on-Hudson theatre's new ownership and management, producer Bruce P. Jackson, John Grissmer and William DeSeta. Jackson comes to the Playhouse by way of the National Academy of Drama in Manhattan, where he is director, and Grissmer and DeSeta have teamed as producers of several productions, including the off-Broadway "Open 24 Hours."

The trio has completely renovated the exterior of the theatre, redecorated the lower and upper lobbies, added a new roof garden, and constructed a new thrust stage. They plan a Children's Theatre for Saturday afternoons, and a theatre training program beginning in July with Jack Knight conducting. Hopes are hgh that this program will be expanded in the future as a larger training program for area youth interested in drama and theatre craft.

Five plays are slated at the Playhouse this season. Following the current "Odd Couple" will be the musical, "Celebration," then "Little Mary Sunshine," followed by "Say Darling." Closing production will be "Stop the World—I Want to Get Off."

Phone reservations are accepted daily, and the number to call is 534-8823. Cocktails are served beginning at 6:30 p.m. each evening, Wednesday through Sunday, and a buffet dinner is available as well prior to curtain time at 8:45 p.m.

TV's Harlem Festival

"The Harlem Cultural Festival" is a one-hour special about the role of the black artist in the entertainment world that CBS will telecast July 28. Among those involved will be Broadway star James Earl Jones of "The Great White Hope," singer Abbey Lincoln, drummer Max Roach, comedian George Kirby, the 5th Dimension, dancer Olatunji and the Hawkins Gospel Singers.

Musical Series In Concert Barn

William Penny Hacker, pianist and conductor, will continue the third annual concert series at the Concert Barn in Coldenham, N.Y., tonight at 7 p.m. The series is running for successive weekends, each Saturday's concert being repeated at 5 on Sunday. This weekend and next will again feature performances by Hacker; the following will offer a chamber music group. Tickets are $2 per concert, (student rates $1). Tickets are available from Hacker, Ridge Road, Coldenham, N.Y., or at the door.

Hacker, a one-time pupil and protege' of the noted Jose Iturbi, has appeared widely in concerts in this country and Europe, receiving praise from reviewers for technical fluency, sensitivity and strength of playing. He also directs the Virginia State Symphony and the Lakeside, Ohio Summer Symphony and Great Composers Festival, and has recently been appointed musical director of the New York State Symphony.

The village of Coldenham is on Route 17 about 7 miles west of Newburgh, in the mid-Hudson area, and the Concert Barn is on Ridge Road, which is a left turn off 17 as one approaches it from Newburgh.

Dining Out

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

Something of a rarity in Italian eating places is Liguori's, down Rosendale way. To our Welsh-based palates, Italian food preparation there seems clearly excellent—delicately done but seasoned with the proper spice.

For example, the stuffed mushrooms offered on the appetizers menu at $1.75 are of unsurpassed excellence and an unbelievable bargain at the price.

A word of praise must also be said for the soups. Liguori's has a soup called Chicken Ala Romana, which is absolutely delicious and liberally laced with fine pieces of white chicken meat. Moreover, a huge bowl costs only 60 cents. Clam chowder, served in the same size bowl is excellent, too; costs a low 40 cents.

No Fairer Anywhere

Liguori's prices are fair as fair can be, the quantities generous, and there is a distinct continental cast to the cooking. Our favorite entree there is probably Veal Francais, featuring milk-fed veal dipped in egg, flour, parsley and cheese, then sauted in butter and lemon. It is a gourmet delight at $3.75.

Others may prefer the Veal Rolatini with mounds of ham and mozzarella cheese entombed beneath piles of tender veal pieces sauted in a delicious marsala wine.

On the garden side of the menu, superb salads are offered.

If it is the Italian portion of the menu that should attract the average diner, there is also a small battery of meats from the broiler not to be ignored. They go from Junior steak ($3.50) and sirloin ($5), with spaghetti, ziti or vegetable, to double rib lamb chops and half spring or boneless breast chicken with mushroom sauce $3—all cooked with excellent flair.

A Super Special

Occasionally, fliers are put on the menu for special dinners such as prime ribs and filet mignon, and the Friday specials include the whole sea thrown on one plate in the form of Fisherman Platters. Our own personal super special favorite is listed under sea food. It's the Lobster Fra d'avola, a most persuasively tasty dish.

Liguori's also serves first-rate entertainment. Those who choose to dine there on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday evenings are treated to live music as fine as in any hotel or restaurant in the nation. With Howard Houghtaling at the piano keyboard, owner and host Joe Liguori beats out a vocal tempo that definitely increases his establishment's attraction to customers.

But back to the food for a last fond look. For appetizers, try the crabmeat cocktail, French snails or baked clams areganata. Don't forget to order garlic bread with you lasagna, ravioli or baked ziti ala Siciliana. If you try the chicken with mushrooms and green peppers sauted in sherry wine with marinara sauce on your first trip, switch to steak ala pizziola on your second visit. We assure you you'll never be sorry you did; will be trated to distinguished dishes fit for a potentate out on a Roman holiday.

Dale Carnegie's Kingston Class-12 graduation at Capri last Saturday had its red-hot moments. Class President Don Wright was awarded multi-colored hair bits to make own toupe; the talents those bankers possess! Ashton Myers, proud papa of two-day old Susie, made the award 'cause it seemed the "Wright" thing to do. Joe Naccarato turned everybody on with original lyrics for class song, accompanying himself with guitar made from bathroom fixture.

George Redmond, class prophet, predicted Bob Breitenstein will use Carnegie training to get into public office; if he becomes judge, he'll not likely wear popular "lace panty" attire.....Don Dolan finding it easier to communicate with those big cranes since replacing "rough" vocabulary with Carnegie technique ..... Bob Fahnstock, on road to bigger things; already persuaded hard-boiled service station manager to buy few flats of petunias.... Udo Gloch saving money to buy own bank and go in business for himself.....Ben Krom Jr. making every effort to market only homes with private lakes and convincing buyer to let him fish anytime he wants without intruders spoiling fun... Kay Quick to use training to further aims of Democratic Party.....John Salters destined for greatness as public speaker, especially on narcotic topic . . . Ruth Mueller remaining humble 'tho three-time Carnegie award champ .....Thanks to D. C. training Chuck Ludlow getting point across at school board budget meetings and getting his kicks singing with Mendelssohn Club.....one year to the day of hospital release after almost fatal car crash, Paul Klun received Carnegie diploma, took Civil Service test for excellent position, and has enroll d in public speaking class at UCCC. How's that for progress? ..... Undoubetedly there's a place in TV for comedian Dan Slater, but he likes roofing business where he "can stay on top".....Atma Baweja now exercising benefits of course in India among fellow Hindus, and Barbara Miller about to embark for England to convince British that taking D.C. course is "jolly good idea." Historian Joel Brink already taking notes in preparation for 5th anniversary reunion in 1974 to check how close George Redmond had told it like it was.

P. S. Capri proprietors, Joe and Vince Costello, are past graduates, and remember, they're getting ready to enlarge.....

Lions (Clubs) really roaring in area last weekend. Out-going president of Esopus group, Lew Kirschner, living it up at Capri. Creamery had cream-of-Highland Lions-crop; we know 'cause the Erichsens were there, Fred and Evelyn, that is. More of a "meow" that "roar" from Kingston Lions at Holiday Inn tho.' By midnight the only survivors were night owls Hubie and Elsie Richter and John and Nordica (her mother was a teacher) Holochuck. Other Lions were pussycats and had left for their cat-naps. Speaking of Holiday Inn, Jim Madden's wife Ellen and beaming buddies sashayed in with birthday cake aglow with lighted candles to celebrate hubby's you know what. But seven candles??

At Parnassus Gallery:

Artistic Fireworks Ablaze

Artistic fireworks will compete with the bombs bursting in air type at Woodstock's Parnassus Square Gallery on the Fourth of July. Independence Day has been picked as the date for the big gallery party at Parnassus—a party aimed at introducing an exciting exhibition.

A quartet of artists will be exhibiting in the enormous barn gallery (a masterpiece in itself) throughout the summer season. Frances Dederick, director of the gallery and just back from California, will show her constructions in two small rooms. The constructions are geared to blend in with the charm and rustic atmosphere of the Parnassus Gallery's old red barn building on Rock City Road.

Newcomers Robin Dupont and Robert Hauge will show their interesting paintings. The masterly touch is evident in many of these works, some of them as large as seven feet by four feet. Miss Dupont recently received word that two of her paintings have been accepted for display in the 34th Annual Regional Exhibition at Albany's Institute of History and Art.

The fourth artist in the group, Dan Gottschalk, will also be showing one of his canvases, "A Journey to the Middle East" at the Albany exhibit. For the Parnassus opening, Gottschalk will show his work in two sections. His Israeli series of paintings (peace for Israel, Dead Sea Scroll, Jerusalem) will comprise one section, and his most recent paintings in oils with plastic texture will be featured in another. These include Merry Go Round, two portraits of folksinger Bob Dylan, The Chimes of Freedom which includes a real bell hanging from the canvas, War Game, Birth, and Bance. Gottschalk's Arnold Blanch memorial painting will not be in the show; will be exhibited instead at Woodstock's Art Students League in July. The late artist was an instructor of League students for many years, and his main interest was in the young people he taught.

Filling the 'Sculpture Gap'

The Woodstock School of Art said this week it feels the appointment of sculptor Susan Elias to its faculty "fills the gap in available art education in Woodstock." Miss Elias's course at the school "is the only sculpture class being offered through the summer in this area," the school said.

Sculptor Elias spent her childhood in Woodstock; attended the Philadelphia College of Art; received her BFA there along with a Second Award for Fine Arts and First Prize for Sculpture. Later, she won First Purchase Prize while attending the Skowhegan School of Fine Art as a scholarship student; went on to earn her MFA and First Prize in the University Exhibit at Columbia University, where she was again a scholarship student.

Among her teachers she includes such notables as Nicholas Carone, Alex Katz, Calvin Albert, Constantino Nivola, and Peter Agostini. Among her own students she includes those she taught in New York City Public Schools, the YW-YMHA in Queens, and the Sullivan County Community College. Her work has included set design and sculpture for productions at St. Mark's Church and the Judson Theater, and she is currently creating environmental sculpture for parks. Among her recent awards was the coveted Louis Comfort Tiffany Award for Sculputre.

Woodstock School of Art also announces that artist Ed Chavez will return from leave in August to resume his sculpture class at the school. Anyone interested in registering for courses should contact The Woodstock School of Art, 29 Millstream Road, Woodstock, or call 679-8998.

Polari's Group Show

Polari Gallery, next to the Woodstock Playhouse in the art colony, is currently presenting a General Group Art Show to remain on exhibit through July 5.

Among the artists represented at Polari: Edward Chavez, Mary Earley, Lily Ente, Dorothy Greene - Pepper, Richard Crist, Carolyn Haeberlin, Barbara Neustadt, Lon Clark, Cornelia Hartmann, Grant Engard, Harvey Fite, Jane Axel and Ronald Denitto. Also: Craig Rubadoux, Nancy Summers, Julio de Diego, Eva van Rijn, Dorothy Varian, Carol Summers, Bernard Steffen, William Pachner, Grace Wapner, and Stephen Robin.

Viewing hours at the Polari Gallery are 1-5 and 8-10 p.m. daily, except for Saturday when the gallery is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and again from 8-10 p.m., and Sunday, when the hours are 1-5 and 7-9 p.m. The gallery is closed Mondays.

Newport: Lots of Soul

Today's top soul artists will be featured at the Newport Jazz Festival over the July 4 weekend, up Newport, R. I. way.

Highlights of this year's session is the appearance of the "king of soul," James Brown, who'll give a solo performance Sunday afternoon, July 6, with his orchestra and entire revue. Brown will do many of his hits, including "Cold Sweat," "I Can't Stand It," "Say It Loud, I'm Black and Proud," and others which have kept him at the top for many years.

The opening concert, Thursday, July 3, will feature one of the most successful soul-jazz groups on the scene today, Young-Holt Unlimited. The group had one of the top records of the past year, "Soulful Strut," and is a welcome addition to the jazz scene.

O. C. 'll Be There

On Saturday evening's concert, two of today's top soul artists will take the stage. O.C. Smith has become one of the major vocalists of the day. His recording of "Little Green Apples" was one of the biggest of the past year, and he continues to turn out tasteful and soulful renditions of the best songs of today and yesterday.

Climaxing the program Saturday night will be the exciting and dynamic rock-soul group, Sly and the Family Stone. This group has exploded onto the music scene this year with its records of "Dance to the Music" and "Everyday People." Their album, "Stand," is currently one of the best sellers all over the country.

Jazz has always had soul, and the Newport Jazz Festival, with James Brown, Young-Holt Unlimited, O. C. Smith, and Sly and the Family Stone, has its fair share this year.

JOHNNY WINTER, who was all the rage in Manhattan this past season, will perform at the Aquarian Expo, already proving such a draw at the box office that it's been extended for a third day. Pop music festival will rock around the clock from 2 p.m. to 2 a.m. Aug. 15, 16 and 17; boasts such top talents as Janis Joplin, Ravi Shankar, Joan Baez, the Grateful Dead and others.

Ticket Sales Boom

Robertson, lead guitarist, Garth Hudson, organist, Levon Helm, drummer, Rick Danko, bass guitarist, and Richard Manuel, pianist.

All five are adept on vocals and, after long negotiations in Woodstock, The Band headed west this spring for a stint in San Francisco's Winterland (they got $20,000 for a weekend's work). They've also performed recently at impresario Bill Graham's Fillmore East in New York City; are currently involved in a two-month recording stint in Los Angeles.

Tim Hardin is also a Woodstock resident currently. He is considered a genius at composing and singing simple, honest music. A writer and performer, he's been heard on many albums called king of the music medium, he recently signed with Columbia for a contract that gave him full control over every aspect of his waxing of albums.

One result of this was that his latest album was recorded in his Woodstock home and for the first time in history, Columbia moved an entire eight-track recording studio and some of its finest engineers to Tim's house.

All of which means Hardin should prove one of the big draws at the Aquarian Expo when he steps up to the microphone to sing songs that have been called "touching" and "beautiful" in spite of the sorrow-soaked voice in which he renders them.
